Senators More Occupied With Little War In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The little war in Laos has blossomed today into one of the major issues occupying the Senate, with critics of President Nixon's policies in the tiny Asian nation basing their objections on two grounds:

—Fear of another Vietnam.
—General disagreement with U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Two leading Republicans—Minority Leader Hugh Scott and Sen. George Aiken of Vermont—charge politics plays a role in the predominantly Democratic criticism of the President.

But virtually all Laos critics, including some Republicans, are those who have repeatedly objected to U.S. policies in Vietnam under both the Johnson and Nixon administrations.

The President's effort to clear the air by issuing a detailed statement on U.S. activities has clearly failed to still Senate criticism.

Some senators now say privately that, if everything the administration says on Laos could be believed, their fears would be substantially lessened.

But their experience on Vietnam, when they believed the Johnson administration to their later regret, makes them wary.

Many see a repetition of the course that got the United States into Vietnam. "It is following the same pattern," Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, "first, aid, then logistics support, then air power, and then GIs," adding quickly "I don't think the GIs will go into Laos."

A resolution introduced Wednesday by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee—which would put the Senate on record as reaffirming the need for congressional action before U.S. armed forces become involved in combat "in or over Laos"—is designed to keep pressure on the administration to prevent an increase in U.S. involvement.

The doubt about the administration's intentions has been heightened by the events of the past week, in which the President originally said "no American stationed in Laos has ever been killed in ground combat operations."

This was followed by the disclosure that one, and then 27, and then nearly 50 Americans had died during operations on the ground in Laos.

Although the administration has admitted it erred, and pledged to list casualties in Laos each week, the damage to its credibility had been done.

Swing-Wing Jet Becomes Dodo Bird

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is now official: the Pentagon is now production of the troubled F-111 aircraft at a maximum of 556 planes—less than a quarter of the number originally proposed six years ago.

Gen. James Ferguson, head of the Air Force Systems Command, told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday the Pentagon will spend no money on F-111 production beyond the budget year ending in mid-1972.

This, he said, will round out payments for four F-111 fighter wings, although there is some doubt whether Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird will approve purchase of the final 40 planes of the fourth unit.

All but six test models among the 225 operational F-111s have been grounded for intensive X-ray and sonic inspection as a result of the crash of the 13th F-111 at Las Vegas, Nev., last December.

Officials found the Nevada accident was caused by a steel flaw which caused a wing to break off.

Laird has said he will await the outcome of the Air Force inspection before committing himself to the final 40 of the fourth fighter wing.

A decision to buy those 40 in the budget year beginning next July still will mean a reduction of 121 planes and about $1 billion under the Air Force's planned buy last year.

Altogether, the Navy and the Air Force once proposed buying 2,411 F-111s with the approval of then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in March 1964. (Continued on Page 2)

Brisk Winds Cut Oil Slick Danger To Wildlife Center

OFF THE LOUISIANA COAST (AP) — Brisk winds blowing seaward brought hope today that a massive oil slick might spare coastal oyster beds and a wildlife refuge which is a winter home for hundreds of thousands of seafowl.

The slick escaped encircling booms and barges Wednesday when high seas broke up the protective chain which had been containing most of it.

Interior Secretary Walter Hickel arranged to inspect the oil-spewing platform today after a flight from Washington to New Orleans. Included in his party was Dr. Leslie L. Glasgow, assistant secretary for Fish and Wildlife, Parks and Marine Resources.

Chevron crews were kept at work through the night in an effort to repair breaks in the chain of booms linking barges carrying oil-skimming equipment.

High winds and choppy seas prevented the oil-skimming vessels from operating Wednesday, and portions of the oil slick splashed past Breton Island—the bird refuge—and Grand Gosier Island into Chaudet Sound, where 400,000 acres of rich oyster beds are located.

Safety engineer Will Billon of Chevron said the oil flow was still an estimated 18,000 to 30,000 gallons daily.

He said that the retrieving devices—skimming the mixed oil and water into barges—had been recovering about 85 per cent of the oil from the surface.

Earlier this week, a spokesman for the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission said a million waterfowl were in the Breton Island area.

Ohio House OKs Drug Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House passed 80-2 Wednesday an omnibus drug bill that would lower penalties for marijuana users and tighten those for drug pushers. The bill also calls for educating public school children in the "evils of drug abuse."

The bill, introduced by Rep. George Mastics, R-52 Fairview Park, would make a second marijuana conviction a felony and doesn't alter the state's harsh penalties for sale and manufacture of illegal drugs.

The only members voting against the bill were Rep. Jim Thorpe, R-90 Alliance, and William Batchelder, R-23 Medina. Both objected to marijuana being reclassified from a narcotic to a hallucinogen.

First offenders under the marijuana section would be subject to one year jail term. The law presently carries a two to 15 year jail term for marijuana possession.

Thorpe offered an amendment to keep marijuana classified as a narcotic and a felony. It was tabled 52-31.

Penalties for pushers and peddlers would be increased from fines of $100 to $300 to $1,000 and one year for the first offense and a one to 10 year jail sentence for subsequent offenses.

An amendment by Rep. Chester Cruze, R-68 Cincinnati, adopted 51-26, requires a convicted drug offender to reveal his source of drugs in order to be eligible for probation.

A second portion of Cruze's amendment, passed 78-1, would allow the courts to offer immunity from prosecution to any drug offender providing information on drug pushers and sale.

Warning Given; No Injuries Are Reported

NEW YORK (AP) — Bombs exploded in the mid-Manhattan skyscraper offices of three giant industrial corporations early today, marking the second such attack on businesses in three months. The blasts caused extensive damage but no injuries were reported.

An anonymous male caller telephoned police to warn of the impending explosions at the offices of Mobil Oil Co., International Business Machines and General Telephone & Electronics, and the buildings were evacuated.

Police said the caller also warned of a bomb at a fourth site, an office building housing the New York offices of Litton Industries, but there was no explosion there and a search turned up no device.

The blasts were the latest in a series of bombings that have hit Manhattan skyscrapers and federal buildings. Five persons were charged in connection with a four-month sequence of bombings last November.

More recently there was the explosion of a Greenwich Village townhouse where police said members of a militant left-wing group were fashioning bombs and apparently bungled the job.

Police were reported checking any possible link between the townhouse group and the earlier case. Anonymous letters to news media said the earlier (Continued on Page 2)

Nixon Pushes Fight Against Drug Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, announcing a $30 million increase in federal research and education efforts to fight narcotics traffic, says "drug addiction among school-age youth is increasing at an alarming rate."

In a statement issued Wednesday, Nixon said:

"Although appropriations for drug education and training have grown six-fold between fiscal 1969 and fiscal 1971, the situation calls for much greater effort."

He called for $135.6 million in education and research funds for the fiscal year starting July 1, up from $105.8 million in the current budget year.

One feature of the Nixon drug program will increase available money for marijuana research by the National Institute of Mental Health to $3.3 million in fiscal 1971, compared to $2.6 million currently.

Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the institute, said researchers are convinced that marijuana "is not an innocuous drug" and can lead in some cases to toxic psychosis and disrupt patterns of thought, speech, and memory.

He acknowledged, however, he knew of no documented case of the drug causing a single death.

When asked if marijuana represented a more serious problem than alcohol, Yolles said: "We don't have the answer as yet. Both drugs have negative effects."

Suzanne Herel Is Champion Speller

ONE LITTLE WORD — Simple "ignorance" kept Jan Thomas (right) from winning the Old Fashioned Spelling Bee for the city's fifth and sixth grade spelling champions Wednesday. Champion Suzanne Herel who spelled "ignorance" correctly, is shown receiving a $25 savings bond from elementary supervisor Donald Metzler. Jan received a pen and pencil set.

Suzanne Herel, a sixth grade student at Nicholas Drive Elementary, was proclaimed Circleville's champion speller over 32 other fifth and sixth graders in the Old Fashioned Spelling Bee held Wednesday afternoon at the high school auditorium.

Suzanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herel, 539 Garden Parkway, will represent the local elementary schools in state competition May 2. The state spellingdown will be held at the Ohio Union, on the Ohio State University campus, Columbus.

Runner-up was Jan Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton R. Thomas Sr., 417 Half Ave. A fifth grader at Mount Street School, Jan will serve as alternate to the state championship.

Miss Mary Walters, a retired teacher from the Circleville School System, pronounced the words at the local final spellingdown. Mrs. Hazel Steele, Mrs. Lucille Webb and Mrs. Annette Will also local retired teachers, made up the panel of judges.

Other students participating in the local contest were:

Atwater — Kevin West, Paul Porter, Mike Hamilton, Kathy Fischer, Grade 5; Kelly Jones, Terry Merriman, Debbie Allen, Gloria Alvarez, Grade 6.

Mound — Susan Mullet, Rose Marie Hoffman, Vicki Allen, Grade 5; John Johnson, Cindy McCabe, Lee Anderson, Jeff Funk, Grade 6.

Nicholas Drive — Kelly Spence, Paula Tussing, Grade 5; Donna Milburn, Grade 6.

South Court — Betsy Ankrom, Walter Rhodes, Susan Stevenson, Regina Justice, Grade 5; Nancy Radcliff, Dennis Wyatt, Dennis Brickey.

Goldwater Raps U.S. News Media

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater declared today that "the most serious threat to freedom of the press is the media's own biased attitude."

The Arizona Republican, in a speech for a Young Republican Leadership Training School here, said "liberal comments about the Nixon administration have taken on an edge of desperation and hysteria since Vice President Agnew has begun to give voice to some of the pet peeves of the Silent Majority."

Goldwater singled out Julian Goodman, president of the National Broadcasting Co., for a "speech calling recent criticism of the news media the greatest threat to press freedom since the Sedition Act of 1798. Goodman also asked federal and state officials to quit serving subpoenas on the news media."

He is a 1968 graduate of Circleville High School and has been in the service since June 12, 1968.

Nixon Pays Visit To Sick Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon made a strictly non-partisan visit to the Naval Medical Center Wednesday to cheer up four ailing congressmen—two are Republicans, two Democrats.

The congressmen-patients are Sen. Carl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Reps. Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, and Earle Cabell, D-Tex.

Trainload Of Bombs Derails; Residents Of Town Unworried

AURORA, Neb. (AP) — How does a quiet little town react when word spreads that 1.7 million pounds of bombs ticketed for Vietnam are strewn at its doorstep by a train derailment?

It happened Wednesday to the central Nebraska town of Aurora, population 2,500. And the people reacted quietly, taking almost a ho-hum attitude.

Mrs. Robert Willis, who lives near the scene of the derailment at the edge of town, said:

"I suppose it's normal to worry when you hear the word 'bomb,' but there was no panic. People just figured it just happened and there wasn't much danger."

The Willises were among several families who decided to leave their homes after a Burlington-Northern freight train derailed.

Thirty-four boxcars—13 of them loaded with 750-pound bombs—left the tracks when wheel trouble caused the cars to pile up "like matchsticks," a railroad spokesman said. Damage was estimated at $1 million. The big bombs, the type used in B52 bombers, were not armed or fused.

"It didn't bother me to walk among the bombs," said Aurora School Supt. Robert Cothren. "There were people all over the place ... No one seemed worried."

After conferring with officials of the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant at nearby Grand Island, where the bombs were manufactured, Cothren ordered town schools closed for two days.

A bomb team from Ft. Riley, Kan., arrived late Wednesday and assured the town there was no danger.

The families who left their homes returned Wednesday evening and Cothren had bad news for the children—school would resume today.

Marie Baldasarro Ordered To Testify

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marie Baldasarro, who currently is serving a six-month workhouse sentence for a gambling conviction, has been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury investigating Columbus gambling.

The Franklin County Grand Jury probe was begun after Miss Baldasarro's brother Frank, and eight policemen were acquitted in federal court on gambling conspiracy counts.

To Name Joseph Columbus Police Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maj. Dwight Joseph, a 23-year veteran of the force, was expected to be named chief of police today.

Joseph, 51, would succeed retiring provisional Chief Robert Gloeckner, who held the job temporarily following the retirement of Chief Robert Baus. Gloeckner also is retiring.

Joseph joined the force in August of 1946.

Mansfield Pushes Quick Voting Age Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — After giving his controversial proposal through a key floor test, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he is pushing for a quick decision on his bid to lower the voting age to 18.

"I'm going to stick with it until I get a vote," Mansfield told newsmen Wednesday after the Senate's 82-21 rejection of a move to table and thus kill the amendment to a bill extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The tabling motion was offered by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who said afterward he recognized the vote as an expression of the will of the Senate in lowering the voting age.

The Democratic leader had wanted a final vote Wednesday but was set back momentarily when Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., proposed his series of amendments to the proposal.

Mansfield said he detected no signs of a filibuster in the making. He said he hoped for quick passage of the amendment and the voting rights measure so the Senate can take up the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court.

Adoption of the amendment, upheld by the courts, would extend the franchise to an estimated 10 to 11 million young people. Only Georgia, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii now permit persons under 21 to vote.

Mansfield's amendment stirred sharp debate centered around whether the voting age can be lowered by an act of Congress or whether a constitutional amendment is required.

Allen sided with senators who contend Congress has no power under the Constitution to lower the voting age. He also strongly opposed the five-year proposed extension of the voting rights law, contending it discriminates against the Southern states in which it suspended literacy tests and authorized the use of federal registrars.

Supporters said the amendment is the quickest way to lower the voting age and decide its constitutionality by the courts.

Opponents contended the constitution specifically gives the states the power to determine the qualification of voters.

One of Allen's amendments, adopted by an 84-7 vote, inserted into Mansfield's amendment the phrase "except as required by the Constitution."

Mansfield raised no objection and others said it would have no effect since the amendment's constitutionality still will be subject to determination by the courts.

The Senate rejected, 66 to 22, another of Allen's amendments to strike the criminal penalties from Mansfield's amendment.

These are fines of up to $5,000 and imprisonment for up to five years for denying the right to vote to persons 18 and over.

Also defeated by a 64-20 vote was a third Allen amendment to delete from the amendment a finding that the states have no compelling interest in denying the vote to persons over 18.

Goldwater Raps U.S. News Media

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater declared today that "the most serious threat to freedom of the press is the media's own biased attitude."

The Arizona Republican, in a speech for a Young Republican Leadership Training School here, said "liberal comments about the Nixon administration have taken on an edge of desperation and hysteria since Vice President Agnew has begun to give voice to some of the pet peeves of the Silent Majority."

Goldwater singled out Julian Goodman, president of the National Broadcasting Co., for a speech calling recent criticism of the news media the greatest threat to press freedom since the Sedition Act of 1798.

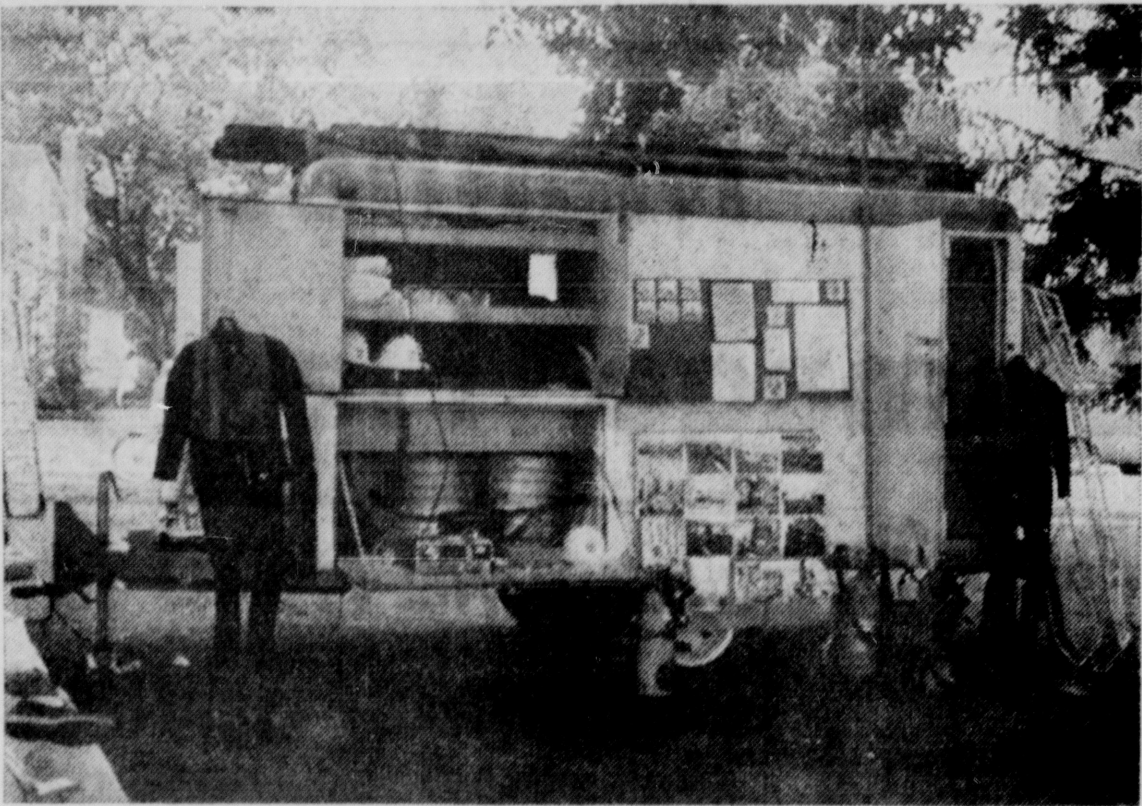

Goodman also asked federal and state officials to quit serving subpoenas on the news media.

Nixon Pays Visit To Sick Congressmen

Today's blasts were supposed to have gone off at 1:40 a.m., the caller told police when he telephoned at 1:06 a.m.

The first went off on schedule in a 34th floor public hallway at the Mobil office on East 42nd Street. It caused extensive structural damage, the fire department said.

The second occurred 15 minutes later on the 12th floor of the IBM office at 425 Park Avenue at 55th Street. It blasted a 25-square foot hole in the floor, fire officials said.

The final blast came at 2 a.m. in the 21st floor office of Sylvia Electric Products, Inc., part of General Telephone & Electronics. It virtually demolished the floor and showered glass into the street outside the building on Third Avenue between 45th and 46th streets.

The FBI joined police in investigating the bombings.

Early last Nov. 11, bombs went off in the offices of Standard Oil of New Jersey, Chase Manhattan Bank and General Motors Corp. One person was injured slightly in that incident.

SAIGON (AP) — The total of U.S. combat deaths in Vietnam dropped to 88 last week, a reduction of 22 per cent from the previous week's three-month high of 113. But the wounded total jumped 72 per cent, from 465 to 803.

The U.S. Command's weekly summary of casualties raised the total number of Americans reported killed in action in Vietnam to 40,846 since Jan. 1, 1961. A total of 269,099 Americans have been reported wounded, and another 1,363 are listed as missing or captured.

The allied commands claimed 2,105 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed last week, bringing the reported enemy total for the war to 607,886. The Saigon government's battle dead exceeded the U.S. total for the 42nd consecutive week, with 343 men reported killed and 742 wounded.

The U.S. Command reported three American helicopters were destroyed by ground fire Wednesday, including an OH58 Kiowa observation craft, the latest model chopper to join the Vietnam war. It was the first Kiowa loss reported.

The two-man ship was on a reconnaissance mission over Bien Hoa Province just north-east of Saigon when it was hit and crashed. One of its crewmen was wounded.

The other two helicopters lost were an OH6 shot down in Tay Ninh Province, wounding three men, and an AH1 Cobra gunship that went down southwest of Da Nang, killing one crew member and wounding the other.

Three other U.S. Army helicopters were shot up Wednesday night—but not destroyed—while trying to rescue wounded men of the Americal Division during a battle 12 miles south of Quang Ngai City.

The U.S. infantrymen came under heavy mortar fire followed by a ground attack. U.S. headquarters reported, American infantrymen returned the fire and called in helicopter gunships.

One UH1 helicopter sent in to evacuate the wounded was hit by enemy ground fire and one soldier aboard was killed, the U.S. Command said. Although damaged, the helicopter was able to return to its base.

Another helicopter was called in and also was hit. It landed at a landing zone nearby. About half an hour later, a third helicopter attempting to evacuate wounded was hit and forced to land nearby. That craft and its crew were retrieved during the night.

The second and third helicopters were marked with Red Crosses and were unarmed, U.S. spokesmen said.

The battle broke off after nearly three hours of fighting. In addition to the man killed aboard the helicopter, six Americans were wounded and two North Vietnamese were killed, the U.S. Command said.

Robert McNichols, 27, of Laureville, suffered a fractured pelvis contusions of the back and abrasions of the knees when he lost control of his tractor at 11:45 a.m. while working on the farm near Laureville. He was treated at Berger Hospital and transferred to University Hospital in Columbus.

McNamara had looked upon the F-111 series as a way of adapting one base plane to the needs of both services.

That concept, however, all but died when the Navy decided its F-111B would have difficulty operating off carriers.

The Air Force has high praise for its F-111. Ferguson told the committee: "The F-111 has encountered problems no more numerous and no more severe than have other weapons systems."

President Plans New Council, Budget Bureau Replacement

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called today for establishment of a new domestic council to formulate policy and creation of an office of management and budget to replace the Budget Bureau.

In a special message to Congress, Nixon summarized his plan for revamping of the Executive Office of the President:

"The Domestic Council will be primarily concerned with what we do; the Office of Management and Budget will be primarily concerned with how we do it, and how well we do it."

Nixon said he was acting because the machinery available to him to manage the federal bureaucracy "has not kept pace" with governmental growth.

The planned reorganization would go into effect automatically unless either the Senate or House vetoes it within 60 days.

"We in government often are quick to call for reform in other institutions," he said, "but slow to reform ourselves. Yet nowhere today is modern management more needed than in government itself."

And, he concluded that the place to begin moves toward improved management was in his own backyard, the Executive Office of the President.

Nixon said the proposed domestic council would "coordinate policy formulation in the domestic area," and added:

"This Cabinet group would be provided with an institutional staff, and to a considerable degree would be a domestic counterpart to the National Security Council."

The new office of management and budget, he said, "represents far more than a mere change of name for the Bureau of the Budget."

He said that while the proposed new office would still help the President prepare the annual federal budget, that chore "will no longer be its dominant."

Stock List Down Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a broadly based decline early this afternoon in light trading.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was behind 2.25 at 775.87.

Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange surpassed gainers by 647 to 382.

The market had been declining progressively from the start of the trading. Analysts said the market was drifting lower in the absence of any stimulation to general buying.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .8 at 275.5. Industrials were off 1.7, rails off .2 and utilities, off .3.

Rails, tobaccos, drugs, metals, chemicals, electronics, aircrafts, electronics, and mail order-retail were generally lower. Airlines were higher.

'Mystery Woman' Sought In Courthouse Bombing

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — A mystery woman was sought today by police investigating possible links between two bombings and the arson-riot trial of black militant H. Rap Brown.

Witnesses said the woman was in the Dorchester County Courthouse a few hours before a powerful explosive device blew a big hole in the building.

The blast early Wednesday followed by about 24 hours an explosion in a car on the outskirts of Bel Air—scene of Brown's trial—which killed two Negro men.

One has been identified as Ralph Feather tone, 31, and the second, tentatively, as William Herman Payne, 25. Both Featherstone and Payne had been associates of Brown in civil rights campaigns.

Brown did not show up for a trial session Tuesday and his whereabouts continued to be a mystery. He is accused of arson and inciting others to commit arson and to riot during 1967 racial disorders here in which 16 buildings were destroyed.

The trial was shifted from Cambridge to Bel Air, 68 miles north across Chesapeake Bay, because of fear that it might touch off further disturbances in his city of 12,000.

Brown's attorney, William M. Kunstler, has obtained postponement of further court proceedings until Monday.

"A pattern has developed in this case, and there may be more and more incidents if the 'trial resumes,'" Kunstler declared Wednesday.

Lt. Col. Thomas S. Smith of the Maryland State Police told newsmen the woman sought in the courthouse bombing "is only a suspect."

"She is only suspect because she was seen in and around the courthouse Tuesday before closing," Smith said. "She is from out of state. We have a very good description and a possible name."

Smith declined to identify the state, or to release the name. Smith said the woman was white.

The bomb exploded in the ladies' restroom of the courthouse, blowing a 30-foot hole in the side of the building.

Smith said he had found no connection between the car explosion and the Cambridge courthouse blast.

(Continued from Page 1) It was expected at that time each model would cost about $2.8 million. With one program reduction after another, however, the price of one F-111 fighter has risen to almost $9 million, according to latest official figures.

McNamara had looked upon the F-111 series as a way of adapting one base plane to the needs of both services.

That concept, however, all but died when the Navy decided its F-111B would have difficulty operating off carriers.

The Air Force has high praise for its F-111. Ferguson told the committee: "The F-111 has encountered problems no more numerous and no more severe than have other weapons systems."

Testimony By 2 Young Girls Backs Up Armstrong Bill

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two 12-year-old girls have told a Senate committee how pain is often the main ingredient in training high-stepping Tennessee show horses.

The girls, both sixth graders at Columbus School for Girls, testified on behalf of a bill to outlaw the practice of soring horses.

Soring, according to Karen Kapetansky, one of the witnesses, is a practice of making it painful for a Tennessee walker to put its foot on the ground. As a result, the horses become high steppers and prize winners.

A classmate, Alice Wright, said she and her classmates became interested in the practice of soring last September. Based mainly on their research, Meyer. At this time they voted to give $10 to care for Biafra Relief. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bresler over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bresler of Columbus, Dr. and Mrs. Arland Imlay of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterner, children Karl, Gayle and Christopher Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Chester McClelland of Lancaster.

Mrs. Leola Storts of Groveport was a Friday dinner guest of Miss Rose Leist and accompanied her to St. Paul United Methodist Church where the World Day of Prayer was held.

Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R-17 Logan, introduced a bill to outlaw the practice.

Train Cut Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's largest railway passenger carrier has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve discontinuance of 34 east-west, long distance passenger trains by April 15.

The request by Penn Central Co. would be the largest such discontinuance in history and would leave New York City without long distance train service on a westerly route.

Chicago would be left without long distance service to the East with the exception of the Baltimore & Ohio's Capital Limited which travels to Washington, D.C.

Penn Central said Tuesday in a petition to the ICC that the action is essential if the railroad is to eliminate huge deficits. It said a $104.8 million loss in 1969 passenger operations left it with an over-all $56.3 million deficit last year.

Not affected by the proposal is the line's commuter passenger operations along the eastern seaboard. But it would eliminate all service between Buffalo, N.Y., and Harrisburg, Pa., and Chicago. The move could also trigger losses in other trains dependent upon Penn Central links.

bad enough," Alice told the Agriculture and State Agencies Committee. "Soring is a relative new practice and we should stop it before it becomes even more widespread."

Two newsmen from the Nashville Tennessean also appeared before the committee. They did an in-depth series on the practices of soring for their newspaper last year.

The newsmen were Wendell Rawls Jr., a reporter, and Jack Corn, a photographer, for the newspaper.

Corn showed colored slides of bleeding horses that had been sored for competitive shows. Mrs. Paul Twine of Great Falls, Va., president of the American Horse Protection Association, said some horse owners drive nails into the hooves of Tennessee walkers to make them step lightly.

Other practices, she said, include putting mustard into cuts and using barbed wire around a horse's ankles. The wounds are usually covered by boots in shows, she said.

Armstrong's bill would prohibit horses that have been sored from being shown in Ohio or being transported for shows into the state. It provides a fine up to $200 and 90 days in prison for convictions. Karen said a horshow audience usually doesn't know a horse has been sored. She called it a "barbaric short cut" to proper training.

It takes up to two years to properly train a Tennessee walker for competition, she said. The practice of soring can cut the training period to 90 days.

Toning It Down

The reality of noise as a polluter of the environment acquires new dimensions when the physical harm it can — and does — inflict on the human being is measured.

One way of measuring it is the dollar loss attached to hearing defects by workmen's compensation courts, which are getting an increasing number of cases of impaired hearing resulting from noise in industrial surroundings.

The substantial harm being caused workmen ought to spur the acoustical engineers, the insurance carriers and industrialists into devising new ways of reducing the noise level in factories for economic as well as humanitarian reasons.

Unfortunately unmeasurable and uncompensable, however, is the hearing loss sustained, not from industrial cacophony, but from ordinary high-decibel living, including such conspicuous offenders as blaring horns, radios and TV sets. Such noisemakers, however, are controllable.

All it takes is a little concern for one's own hearing and that of the fellow nearby.

Peace Measurements

Despite a few token arrangements such as the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, one would have to agree that the world today is far from discovering the road to peace. That is the same conclusion reached in a United Nations survey which has found the world is spending more money on military items today than it has at any time in history except during the peak fighting years of World War II.

There is a fallacy, however, in equating the expenditure of dollars for the military with either war or peace.

In the ideal utopia, which humans probably never will produce, there would be no hostilities among people and therefore no need for the expenditure of a single dollar for armaments of any kind.

But this is not that kind of world, and it could be said that the reason no more serious wars have erupted in the last quarter century than Korea and Vietnam is due largely to the ability of the non-aggressors to maintain a military balance against the would-be aggressors.

Is China Lobby Dead?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The China Lobby — meaning, of course, the anti-Mao Tse-tung Lobby — has been pronounced dead by the Liberal Establishment. The demise, according to Warren Unna of the Washington Post, was without benefit of an obituary.

Well, if we do have a corpse on our hands, it's a mighty lively one. I happen to be on the mailing list of the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations. This committee, since the death some years ago of Alfred Kohlberg, the New York importer of Hong Kong laces, has been the only thing in the way of a China Lobby that has existed. Its mailing still comes thick and fast; it recently turned out an excellent pamphlet, "Twenty Years of Tyranny: Communist China, 1949-69." In December, former Congressman Walter Judd, the chairman of the Committee of One Million, challenged the Columbia Broadcasting System to give equal time to his organization in order to rectify a "misleading" CBS-TV News Special, "Triangle of Conflict . . . China Russia and the U.S." which ignored both the eye-witness accounts of refugees from mainland China and the numerous experts on Asia who happen to disagree with the John Fairbank-Owen Lattimore school of be-nice-to-Mao Sinologists.

The real point to be made, however, is that nobody needs a "China Lobby" to keep Red China out of the UN. Mao Tse-tung and his mates manage to do that very well by themselves. It's just as Walter Judd says: the Peking government, by its intransigent behavior, always manages to alienate a majority of the UN members every time the question of admission comes up.

The steering committee of the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations includes such senatorial stalwarts as Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Peter Dominick of Colorado, and Ernest Hollings of South Carolina. These are not "intransigent" men; they would dearly love to see Red China signify its intention to abide by the principles of the UN Charter, and (to use President Nixon's words) meet the principles that new members admitted to the United Nations are supposed to meet. If it's a matter of meeting Peking halfway, the Committee of One Million would surely like to know Mao Tse-tung's notion of the appropriate halfway point. In more than twenty years Mao hasn't budged an inch.

Some of us who distrust Red China have kept quiet about the resumption of talks between Peking diplomats and U.S. representatives in Poland. We have never been against talking. We'd like to think that something good may come of face-to-face palaver about better trade and travel relations and a better general understanding regarding the peace of the Orient. But, before the talks were interrupted a couple of years ago while Red China went off on its "cultural revolution" isolationist spree, nothing ever came of the "jaw, jaw" that Winston Churchill rightly said was better than "war war." By actual count there were more than 130 talks in Geneva and Warsaw. It was Mao Tse-tung, not the U.S. State Department, who interrupted the talks. Is there any good reason to suppose that the new palaver will be any more fruitful than the old?

There is a possibility, of course, that Red China will try to make its Pacific Ocean front safe while it pursues its quarrel along the long inner Asia border with Soviet Russia. But matters here are not to be hurried. The Red Chinese-U.S. and the Red Chinese-Soviet Russia talks are interlocked, and the interlocking means that we must mark time. If things get worse between Moscow and Peking, as they may do, the relations between Mao and the West will naturally improve by default. With Red China in real trouble in Sinkiang, the negotiations between Peking and Canada and Peking and Italy might amount to something. A shoot-out between Russia and Red China would let the U.S. off the hook in Vietnam, and would surely mean a relaxation of Peking's continuing war of nerves against Taiwan. However, there is nothing the U.S. can do save wait on the quarrel between the two great Communist empires.

There is little need of an obstreperous "China Lobby" during the period of watchful waiting. The Committee of One Million, however, is assuredly not dead. If Red China were to try to shoot its way into the UN, or if it were to patch up its quarrel with Moscow and go all out to take over Southeast Asia, we'd hear plenty from Walter Judd's far from moribund organization.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG Lothario, tootling through North Westchester with a new recipient of his adoration, had a rear tire blow out near Katonah and, too lazy to change tires himself, clanked into a garage to have it done for him. The mechanic on duty took one look at the tire, another look at the Lothario, then socked him in the jaw. "Maybe this will teach you a lesson," he muttered. "Now stop taking out my wife!"

An embarrassing moment ensued on upper Broadway the day the Queen of Greece came up to Barnard College to receive an honorary degree. One of the guests at the ceremony was a crusty old psychiatrist from Columbia University across the avenue. "Come over and meet the Queen of Greece," smiled the Dean of Barnard. The old psychiatrist shook hands graciously, then cackled to the Dean—loud enough for Her Majesty to overhear. "She seems harmless enough. How long has she thought she's the Queen?"

"Times are changing too fast," complained a security analyst to Wall Street commentator Annabelle. "I think it's dreadful the way so many beautiful women today spoil their image by using those four-letter words."

"What word in particular do you object to?" he was asked. "You know," was the answer, "words like Stop, Don't, Won't, and Can't."

By HAL BOYLE

By DICK STROBEL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — People who complain about the U.S. postal service have never heard about my wife's birthday card.

For 38 years, a total of 75 times, the mailman has carried this card back and forth across the country with never a failure.

Now it's so cloaked in sentimentality and nostalgia that if anything were to happen to it I'd probably have to start my own postal service.

Remember 1932? When Roosevelt was elected president at the depth of the depression? That's when it started.

My wife, Betty, bought the card for 10 cents and mailed it to her girlhood chum, whose name also is Betty. Then she was Betty Nichols. Today she is Betty Vars, wife of an airlines executive.

Came my wife's birthday five months later and Betty Nichols mailed the same card back to my Betty. Seven months later my Betty retaliated in kind, and it's been going on like this ever since, every March 1 and October 15.

At the beginning, both Bettys lived in St. Paul, Minn. The postman's job was easy.

Since then the card has had to follow my Betty to Chicago, then to New York, then to San Francisco, and finally to Los Angeles. It's always managed.

Its condition now is reminiscent of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the inner sheets yellowed and brittle.

Scrawled over every bit of space are greetings and tidings of family triumphs and sorrows. Names of newly arrived babies added from time to time.

Even history is recorded.

Commerce Committee Eyes Rail Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring a voluntary agreement, the House Commerce Committee plans hearings later this month on President Nixon's plea for Congress to impose a binding settlement on the nationwide railroad dispute.

"I'm hopeful that they will come to some agreement," Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said when asked about the panel's plans. "They have plenty of time and I am hopeful."

"The war ended just in time to make your birthday happy," says one greeting written in 1943.

To one as economy-minded as I, the thought of my wife using the same card all these years was of course heart-warming.

But now I'm not so sure. She's attached so much sentiment to it that she now sends it by registered mail.

Last time it cost 75 cents.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Most Americans haven't much personal knowledge of the situation so far, but that long predicted slowdown is now hitting the job market a solid blow. No karate chop, to be sure, but still more than a jab.

Wholesale layoffs have not yet become the pattern except in the automotive and aerospace industries. But help wanted advertising is way down. So are offers to college students. And the hard core job program has been hurt.

Some 78,822,000 Americans had jobs at the end of February, but 3,427,000 did not. While some of the unemployment is clearly temporary, such as from auto plant layoffs, a growing part of it is long term.

The unemployment rate is now up to 4.2 per cent of the labor force, the highest rate since October 1965. And while month to month fluctuations in this indicator are suspect, the two-month increase of 0.7 per cent is the highest in more than 12 years.

If you are a blue collar worker you are likely to know more about the eroding job market than an office worker. The blue collar rate was 5 per cent in February and very likely increased since then.

It is difficult to keep a production line worker busy when there is nothing to manufacture. It is much easier to spread a reduced workload in the office, and white collar joblessness is only 2.3 per cent and rising more slowly.

If you are black or a teenager you are feeling the slowdown more sharply than most categories. Nonwhite unemployment is up to 7 per cent, compared with 3.8 for whites. The teen-age rate is more than 13 per cent.

There are many other effects on the job market that are not so easily observed in the government figures.

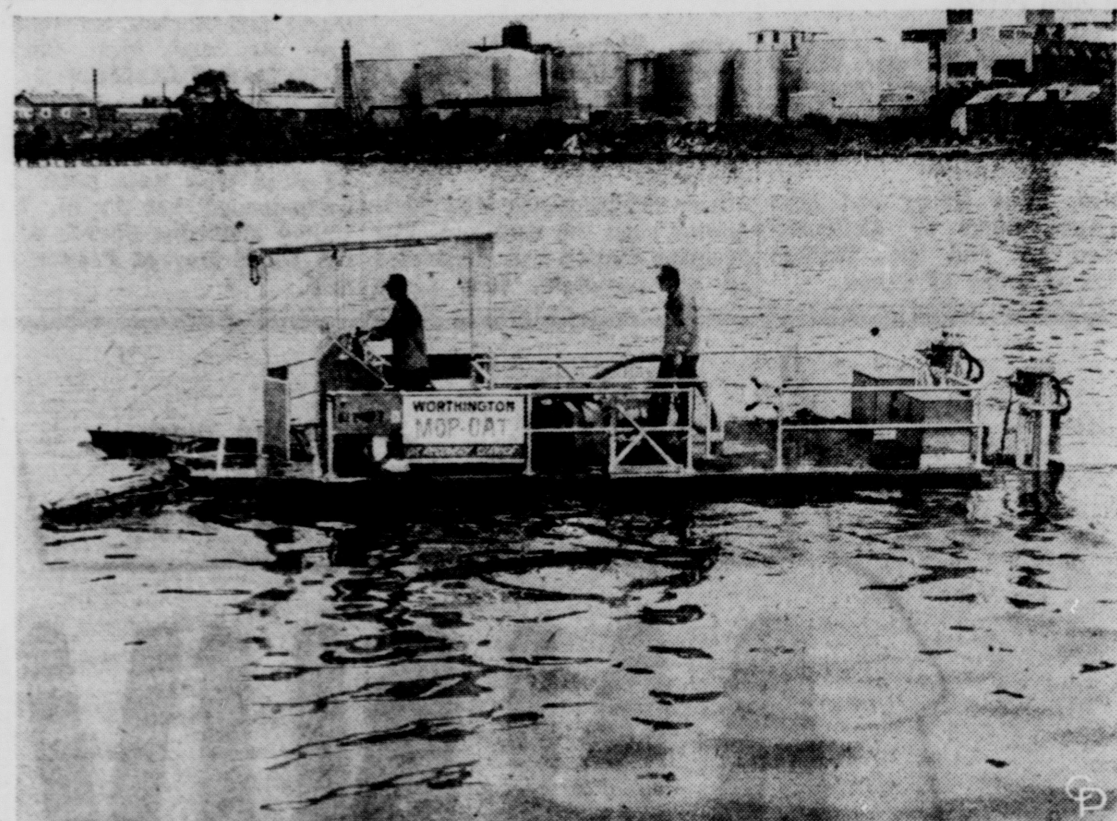

Factories are attempting to spread the work over a period of time rather than spend money on overtime. For many workers, overtime had come to be accepted during the years of expansion, and will be sorely missed. The help-wanted advertising index clearly shows that employers are less avidly seeking workers. For four straight months through January this index has fallen, and very likely it has continued on down since then.

The index, based on studies of advertising volume in daily newspapers by the National Industrial Conference Board, stood at 202 in January but had been as high as 235 last September. As with many statistical series, the period 1957-1959 equals 100.

The index also reveals a spotted rather than geographical pervasive pattern. In New York, for example, the index dropped to 122 in January from 135 in December. But in Oklahoma City it rose to 346 from 328.

The weakening job market apparently makes no geographical distinctions among college campuses. Based on a nationwide survey, the College Placement Council says job offers to male students are off 16 per cent from a year ago.

OIL SWEEPER — This new vessel, the Mop Cat, offers fresh hope for fast cleanup of oil spills on waterways. One is shown doing a hitherto-unheard-of type of salvage job on the Hudson River.

New Craft May Solve Menace Of Oil-Spills

NEW YORK—Remember the newspaper headline stories of last spring and summer?

"Forty-two thousand gallons of fuel oil have spilled into the sea off San Diego Bay"; and "One hundred thousand gallons of slop oil have broken out from a tank near Albany, N. Y., into the Hudson River."

There's welcome news from home owners, bathers, fishermen and sailboat owners nationwide in this report from Bayonne, N. J.: A 25-foot boat carrying equipment new to science, promises to help solve America's oil-slick pollution problem. The sticky mess invades rivers, docks, bathhouses and bathing beaches, kills fish and water fowl, and makes waterways filthy and stinking.

The tiny vessel, nicknamed Mop-Cat, proved its worth in a recent test in the murky waters off Bayonne, N. J. Carrying a revolutionary kind of cleanup device, it cut a 15-foot swath through a contaminated area, recovering polluted oil from the water's surface. The entire area was restored to its normal condition of cleanliness in less than three hours.

Mop-Cat is called a catamaran boat because it has two hulls. The cleanup craft is the prototype of somewhat larger production models which are scheduled to be available within the next few months.

The vessel was designed for everyday service around dock areas and other inland waters where oil spills are most likely to occur. However, it is lightweight enough to be immediately transportable by helicopter for emergency service in any area. The oil it recovers is said to be salvaged in good condition and is immediately usable without the need of major processing.

The Mop-Cat is intended for use right after an oil spill occurs, which means before it spreads out of control. Other planned uses include: for periodical policing of inland waters polluted by oil or oil wastes, and garbage dumping.

The vessel operates in waters as shallow as two feet and against headwinds, river currents and tides. Its equipment enables it to handle any kind of oil, retrieve it and store it in drums, bags or collecting reservoirs, or for pumping the oil to land for immediate use or storage.

Attached to the Mop-Cat is what oil handlers call a "floating boom" which serves to entrap oil and water-surface debris. Literally, the boom scoops up and wrings out the oil slick and separates it from wastes and water.

Another big advantage of the new type of oil boom is that "it can contain and concentrate an oil slick to the thickness of 1/4-inch or more."

In addition, the manufacturer claims the "Mop-Cat, in its planned larger sizes will be capable of recovering spilled oil from the water's surface at the rate of at least 50 barrels an hour."

"At this rate, which figures out at 42 gallons to the barrel, as much as 2,100 gallons of oil slick can be recovered in only an hour. This in turn figures out at 42,000 gallons in 20 hours, three shifts of workmen. The 42,000-gallon figure is said to be twice the reported leakage per day as occurred in the big leak off Santa Barbara last spring," the firm insists.

For every big oil spill such as the ones at Santa Barbara and Albany, there occur every year in our inland or protected waters some 500 or more smaller leakages near cities, according to the manufacturer who points out: "Such small spills average around 5,000 gallons each."

The Mop-Cat's double hull is exceptionally buoyant, comprising two foam-filled aluminum-alloy hulls connected by all-welded structural members and deck. All parts are said to be corrosion-resistant, sea-worthy and maintenance-free.

Toning It Down

The reality of noise as a polluter of the environment acquires new dimensions when the physical harm it can -- and does -- inflict on the human being is measured.

One way of measuring it is the dollar loss attached to hearing defects by workmen's compensation courts, which are getting an increasing number of cases of impaired hearing resulting from noise in industrial surroundings.

The substantial harm being caused workmen ought to spur the acoustical engineers, the insurance carriers and industrialists into devising new ways of reducing the noise level in factories for economic as well as humanitarian reasons.

Unfortunately unmeasurable and uncompensable, however, is the hearing loss sustained, not from industrial cacophony, but from ordinary high-decibel living, including such conspicuous offenders as blaring horns, radios and TV sets. Such noisemakers, however, are controllable.

All it takes is a little concern for one's own hearing and that of the fellow nearby.

Peace Measurements

Despite a few token arrangements such as the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, one would have to agree that the world today is far from discovering the road to peace. That is the same conclusion reached in a United Nations survey which has found the world is spending more money on military items today than it has at any time in history except during the peak fighting years of World War II.

There is a fallacy, however, in equating the expenditure of dollars for the military with either war or peace.

In the ideal utopia, which humans probably never will produce, there would be no hostilities among people and therefore no need for the expenditure of a single dollar for armaments of any kind.

But this is not that kind of world, and it could be said that the reason no more serious wars have erupted in the last quarter century than Korea and Vietnam is due largely to the ability of the non-aggressors to maintain a military balance against the would-be aggressors.

Is China Lobby Dead?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The China Lobby -- meaning, of course, the anti-Mao Tse-tung Lobby -- has been pronounced dead by the Liberal Establishment. The demise, according to Warren Uona of the Washington Post, was without benefit of an obituary.

Well, if we do have a corpse on our hands, it's a mighty lively one. I happen to be on the mailing list of the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations. This committee, since the death some years ago of Alfred Kohlberg, the New York importer of Hong Kong laces, has been the only thing in the way of a China Lobby that has existed. Its mailing still comes thick and fast: only recently it turned out an excellent pamphlet, "Twenty Years of Tyranny: Communist China, 1949-69." In December, former Congressman Walter Judd, the chairman of the Committee of One Million, challenged the Columbia Broadcasting System to give equal time to his organization in order to rectify a "misleading" CBS-TV News Special, "Triangle of Conflict . . . China, Russia and the U.S." which ignored both the eye-witness accounts of refugees from mainland China and the numerous experts on Asia who happen to disagree with the John Fairbank-Owen Lattimore school of de-nice-to-Mao Sinologists.

The real point to be made, however, is that nobody needs a "China Lobby" to keep Red China out of the UN. Mao Tse-tung and his mates manage to do that very well by themselves. It's just as Walter Judd says: the Peking government, by its intransigent behavior, always manages to alienate a majority of the UN members every time the question of admission comes up.

The steering committee of the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations includes such senatorial stalwarts as Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Peter Dominick of Colorado, and Ernest Hollings of South Carolina. These are not "intransigent" men; they would dearly love to see Red China signify its intention to abide by the principles of the UN Charter, and (to use President Nixon's words) meet the principles that new members admitted to the United Nations are supposed to meet. If it's a matter of meeting Peking halfway, the Committee of One Million would surely like to know Mao Tse-tung's notion of the appropriate halfway point. In more than twenty years Mao hasn't budged an inch.

Some of us who distrust Red China have kept quiet about the resumption of talks between Peking diplomats and U.S. representatives in Poland. We have never been against talking. We'd like to think that something good may come of face-to-face palaver about better trade and travel relations and a better general understanding regarding the peace of the Orient. But, before the talks were interrupted a couple of years ago while Red China went off on its "cultural revolution" isolationist spree, nothing ever came of the "jaw, jaw" that Winston Churchill rightly said was better than "war war." By actual count there were more than 130 talks in Geneva and Warsaw. It was Mao Tse-tung, not the U.S. State Department, who interrupted the talks. Is there any good reason to suppose that the new palaver will be any more fruitful than the old?

There is a possibility, of course, that Red China will try to make its Pacific Ocean front safe while it pursues its quarrel along the long inner Asia border with Soviet Russia. But matters here are not to be hurried. The Red Chinese-U.S. and the Red Chinese-Soviet Russia talks are interlocked, and the interlocking means that we must mark time. If things get worse between Moscow and Peking, as they may do, the relations between Mao and the West will naturally improve by default. With Red China in real trouble in Sinkiang, the negotiations between Peking and Canada and Peking and Italy might amount to something. A shoot-out between Russia and Red China would let the U.S. off the hook in Vietnam, and would surely mean a relaxation of Peking's continuing war of nerves against Taiwan. However, there is nothing the U.S. can do save wait on the quarrel between the two great Communist empires.

There is little need of an obstreperous "China Lobby" during the period of watchful waiting. The Committee of One Million, however, is assuredly not dead. If Red China were to try to shoot its way into the UN, or if it were to patch up its quarrel with Moscow and go all out to take over Southeast Asia, we'd hear plenty from Walter Judd's far from moribund organization.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG Lothario, tooting through North Westchester with a new recipient of his adoration, had a rear tire blow out near Katonah and, too lazy to change tires himself, clanked into a garage to have it done for him. The mechanic on duty took one look at the tire, another look at the Lothario, then socked him in the jaw. "Maybe this will teach you a lesson," he muttered. "Now stop taking out my wife!"

An embarrassing moment ensued on upper Broadway the day the Queen of Greece came up to Barnard College to receive an honorary degree. One of the guests at the ceremony was a crusty old psychiatrist from Columbia University across the avenue.

"Come over and meet the Queen of Greece," smiled the Dean of Barnard. The old psychiatrist shook hands graciously, then cackled to the Dean—loud enough for Her Majesty to overhear. "She seems harmless enough. How long has she thought she's the Queen?"

"Times are changing too fast," complained a security analyst to Wall Street commentator Annabelle. "I think it's dreadful the way so many beautiful women today spoil their image by using those four-letter words."

"What word in particular do you object to?" he was asked. "You know," was the answer, "words like Stop, Don't, Won't, and Can't."

By DICK STROBEL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — People who complain about the U.S. postal service have never heard about my wife's birthday card.

For 38 years, a total of 76 times, the mailman has carted this card back and forth across the country with never a failure.

Now it's so cloaked in sentimentality and nostalgia that if anything were to happen to it I'd probably have to start my own postal service.

Remember 1932? When Roosevelt was elected president at the depth of the depression? That's when it started.

My wife, Betty, bought the card for 10 cents and mailed it to her girlhood chum, whose name also is Betty. Then she was Betty Nichols. Today she is Betty Vars, wife of an airlines executive.

Came my wife's birthday five months later and Betty Nichols mailed the same card back to my Betty. Seven months later my Betty retailed in kind, and it's been going on like this ever since, every March 1 and October 15.

At the beginning, both Bettys lived in St. Paul, Minn. The postman's job was easy.

Since then the card has had to follow my Betty to Chicago, then to New York, then to San Francisco, and finally to Los Angeles. It's always managed. Its condition now is reminiscent of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the inner sheets yellowed and brittle.

Scrawled over every bit of space are greetings and tidings of family triumphs and sorrows. Names of newly arrived babies added from time to time. Even history is recorded.

Commerce Committee Eyes Rail Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring a voluntary agreement, the House Commerce Committee plans hearings later this month on President Nixon's plea for Congress to impose a binding settlement on the nationwide railroad dispute.

"I'm hopeful that they will come to some agreement," Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said when asked about the panel's plans. "They have plenty of time and I am hopeful."

To one as economy-minded as I, the thought of my wife using the same card all these years was of course heart-warming.

But now I'm not so sure. She's attached so much sentiment to it that she now sends it by registered mail.

Grammies Awarded For Records

NEW YORK (AP) — A nine-man rock group, a pop song and a machine that looks like a small computer did better than any individuals when 44 Grammys were awarded for the best recording of 1969.

Three Grammys apiece went to the rock group Blood, Sweat and Tears, the pop song "Games People Play," and the album "Switched-on Bach" which is performed on the Moog Synthesizer, a computer-like machine that can sound like any instrument in an orchestra.

Winners of the Grammys, statuettes shaped like gramophones, were announced Wednesday night.

"Blood, Sweat and Tears," the group's second LP, combining rock, jazz and classical music, won as the best album of the 1969 contest year. Group member Fred Lipsius won the arranging award for the group's hit "Spinning Wheel." "Variations on a Theme by Eric Satie" won for BS&T in the best contemporary instrumental performance category.

"Games People Play" was named song of the year and best contemporary song, with two Grammys going to writer Joe South. Saxophonist King Curtis' playing of the song won for him in the rhythm 'n' blues instrumental performance category.

"Switched-on Bach" was named the classical album of 1969, the best solo instrumental classical performance and the best engineered classical recording.

Crosby, Stills and Nash were acclaimed best new pop artists of 1969.

Peggy Lee won the best female vocal performance Gram-

IRS Requires 5-6 Weeks To Process Refunds

It usually takes five or six weeks to issue a refund if a tax return is properly made out and filed early, Paul A. Schuster, District Director of Internal Revenue for Southern Ohio, said today.

Taxpayers who do not receive their refunds within this period should wait to write IRS at least ten weeks after filing. Writing earlier may only delay processing, he said.

To avoid refund delays, Mr. Schuster said, taxpayers should check their return for accuracy and completeness. They should check to make sure all W-2 Forms are attached, the name and address and Social Security number on the name label are correct, and the return is signed.

boy." Composer John Barry's instrumental theme for "Midnight Cowboy" won as best theme tune.

"A Boy Named Sue" won "best country song" for its writer, Shel Silverstein, and "best country male vocal performance" for Johnny Cash. Cash won a second Grammy, for best album notes, those he wrote for Bob Dylan's "Nashville Skyline."

"The Love Theme from (the movie) Romeo and Juliet" won "best contemporary performance by a chorus," as performed by Percy Faith's group, and "best instrumental arrangement" for arranger Henry Mancini. Mancini has won in that category five times previously during the 12 years Grammy awards have been given by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

President Praises Agnew As Pride Of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has told big-money Republicans that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "the man nobody knew," is the pride of the administration, the most effective fund-raising speechmaker ever to hold the office.

Nixon, once vice president himself, praised Agnew for his off-stage performance in the councils of government, too.

"There were those who said when I chose him, 'Well, that proves' the new President doesn't know how to choose men," Nixon said. "Well, if that is the kind of mistakes I've made, I'm proud of this one, believe me."

Agnew's emergence as the party's star political performer was among the themes woven into the campaign-year oratory at a black tie dinner that raised nearly $2 million for the GOP Wednesday night.

The party's leaders in Congress, then Agnew, then Nixon, needed the Democrats and spoke of high hopes for Republican gains in the House and Senate in the Nov. 3 elections.

"I'm not going to talk in partisan terms tonight, this is not the appropriate time to do so," Nixon told a hotel ballroom full of 1,000-a-plate diners.

"... It just happens that at this particular time in history, this party... has the responsibility to develop the leadership that will determine whether peace and freedom will survive in the world," he said. "I think we can do it."

Agnew, whose telegrams to lagging GOP donors produced a late surge in $1,000 ticket sales, said Nixon's integrity and confidence has made "this administration first in the hearts of the American people."

Deny State Has Money For Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legislative leader and an official of the Ohio Education Association agreed on one thing Wednesday:

The state doesn't have any $40 million surplus to turn over to public education.

Both took exception to an Ohio School Board Association statement earlier in the week that the state had the surplus funds available.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess told newsmen the Finance Committee had double-checked state spending and could find no surplus that could go toward education.

Girl Scout Area Meeting Held

Girl Scout adults from Area IX of the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council met in Circleville at St. Philip's Episcopal Parish House Wednesday with 70 members and guests present.

This was the second bi-annual Area Association Meeting to be held under the new organizational structure adopted by the Council last April. The Fall meeting was held in Lancaster for members from Pickaway, Fairfield and Hocking counties which make up Area IX.

Guests present for the meeting from the Council office in Columbus included Mrs. Edwin M. Erickson, council president; Mrs. E. D. Cowles, public relations director; Rich Bowers, property manager; Roger Emhoff, development manager; Mrs. Sharma Krauskoff; Mrs. Wilma Diamond, field director for Pickaway County, and Mrs. Thomas Solt, field director for Fairfield and Hocking counties. A local guest also present was Mrs. William Andersen, who will be assistant director at Miska Day Camp in June.

Council delegates from the Circleville area were in charge of the local arrangements, with Charles Harris as general chairman, Mrs. William Curtiss and Mrs. Richard Fisher on the hostess committee and Mrs. Willis Flowers in charge of the opening flag ceremony. Heading the refreshment committee was Mrs. Walter Howard; and Mrs. Flowers was assisted in the flag ceremony by Mrs. G. D. Sherman, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. George Schenck, Mrs. Ronald Spence, Mrs. William Bills and Mrs. Daniel Bond.

Following the welcoming address by the area association chairman, Mrs. David Atkin of Lancaster, Mrs. Erickson presented statistics on council financing, stressing that 87 per cent of the budget goes for program services such as staff personnel, publications and program facilities, 8.5 per cent goes for management and 3.8 per cent goes for fund raising. The participants then divided into buzz groups to discuss a 30-year projection of Girl Scouting needs in relation to the community, schools and the out-of-doors.

The meeting concluded with recognition ceremonies at which Mrs. Richard Penn presented a Certificate of Recognition to Mrs. Robert Jones Sr. for her 22 years of dedicated service to Girl Scouting in Circleville. Mrs. Jones is presently the leader of Junior Troop 89 and has served as Day Camp Director at Miska for the past two summers.

Mrs. Atkin also expressed thanks to Mrs. David Schneider and Mrs. Frank Estes for their work in Public Relations in Circleville during the past year. Displays at the meeting included information about adult opportunities for travel with groups of Senior Girl Scouts at both the national and the international level and for advanced leadership and administrative courses at the national training center at Camp Macy in New York. Also on display were clippings from the Circleville Herald on Girl Scout publicity and activities during Girl Scout Week, March 8-14.

It was announced that the next Council Delegates Meeting will be April 27 at Trinity United Methodist Church in Columbus at 9:30 a.m. and the next Area IX Association Meeting will be September 29 in Logan, at 7:30 p.m.

Grammies Awarded For Records

NEW YORK (AP) — A nine-man rock group, a pop song and a machine that looks like a small computer did better than any individuals when 44 Grammys were awarded for the best recording of 1969.

Three Grammys apiece went to the rock group Blood, Sweat and Tears, the pop song "Games People Play," and the album "Switched-on Bach" which is performed on the Moog Synthesizer, a computer-like machine that can sound like any instrument in an orchestra.

Winners of the Grammys, statuettes shaped like gramophones, were announced Wednesday night.

"Blood, Sweat and Tears," the group's second LP, combining rock, jazz and classical music, won as the best album of the 1969 contest year. Group member Fred Lipsius won the arranging award for the group's hit "Spinning Wheel." "Variations on a Theme by Eric Satie" won for BS&T in the best contemporary instrumental performance category.

"Games People Play" was named song of the year and best contemporary song, with two Grammys going to writer Joe South. Saxophonist King Curtis' playing of the song won for him in the rhythm 'n' blues instrumental performance category.

"Switched-on Bach" was named the classical album of 1969, the best solo instrumental classical performance and the best engineered classical recording.

Crosby, Stills and Nash were acclaimed best new pop artists of 1969.

Peggy Lee won the best female vocal performance Gram-

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS STANLEY PARMER

Wedding vows were solemnized by candlelight in Pontious United Methodist Church for Miss Linda Anne Caudill and Mr. Thomas Stanley Parmer, 8:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

The Rev. Floyd Adams performed the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and mums, lily-of-the-valley wreaths and baskets of white Fuji mums and blue gladioli. White satin bows with brida wreath marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cleo M. Caudill, 155 E. Mound St. and the late Mr. Charles L. Caudill. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Parmer, 654 E. Mound St.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Louise Drummond, organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert L. Caudill, the bride approached the altar in a full length gown of white tulle, designed with a princess front panel, crescent neckline and long tapered, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured a full back forming a chapel length train topped with an obi bow at the waistline. Her bouffant veil of English silk illusion draped from an Alencon lace petal plateau accented with taffeta rosebuds and pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white Fuji mums and pink sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was a silver wedding bell necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Marcia Pontious served as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length gown fashioned with a pale blue satin bodice with a matching streamered bow at the empire waist, scooped neckline and sky blue velvet skirt. She carried a fureside basket of white Fuji mums, pink sweetheart roses and blue velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Hollar and Miss Vickie Thompson. They were dressed identically as the maid of honor and carried matching baskets. They wore pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Miss Melissa Caudill, flower girl, was dressed as the attendants and carried a basket of white rose petals. Master Scott J. Archer was ring bearer.

Mrs. Caudill selected for her daughter's wedding a navy blue suit-dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Parmer wore a gold dress with brown accessories and a tangerine carnation corsage.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony. A three tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table, decorated with blue and white streamers. The gift table held a bride and groom centerpiece with blue and white pom poms. Hostesses were Mrs. David Caudill, Mrs. Robert Caudill and Mrs. Donald Pontious.

The new Mrs. Parmer is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed by the Circleville Savings Bank. Mr. Parmer, also a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by White Motor Corporation in Columbus and is presently undergoing basic training for the Ohio National Guard in Fort Polk, La.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Commercial Point, Kingston, Portsmouth, Clarksburg, Ashville, Stoutsville, Amanda and Five Points.

Wedding vows were solemnized by candlelight in Pontious United Methodist Church for Miss Linda Anne Caudill and Mr. Thomas Stanley Parmer, 8:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

The Rev. Floyd Adams performed the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and mums, lily-of-the-valley wreaths and baskets of white Fuji mums and blue gladioli. White satin bows with gladioli wreath marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cleo M. Caudill, 135 E. Mound St. and the late Mr. Charles L. Caudill. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Parmer, 654 E. Mound St.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Louise Drummond, organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert L. Caudill, the bride approached the altar in a full length gown of white peau taffeta, designed with a princess front panel, crescent neckline and long tapered, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured a full back forming a chapel length train topped with an obi bow at the waistline. Her bouffant veil of English silk illusion draped from an Alencon lace petal plateau accented with taffeta rosebuds and pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white Fuji mums and pink sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was a silver wedding bell necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Marcia Pontious served as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length gown fashioned with a pale blue satin bodice with a matching streamered bow at the empire waist, scooped neckline and sky blue velvet skirt. She carried a fireside basket of white Fuji mums, pink sweetheart roses and blue velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Hollar and Miss Vickie Thompson. They were dressed identically as the maid of honor and carried matching baskets. They wore pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Miss Melissa Caudill, flower girl, was dressed as the attendants and carried a basket of white rose petals. Master Scott J. Archer was ring bearer.

Mrs. Caudill selected for her daughter's wedding a navy blue suit-dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Parmer wore a gold dress with brown accessories and a tangerine carnation corsage.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony. A three tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table, decorated with blue and white streamers. The gift table held a bride and groom centerpiece with blue and white pom poms. Hostesses were Mrs. David Caudill, Mrs. Robert Caudill and Mrs. Donald Pontious.

The new Mrs. Parmer is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed by the Circleville Savings Bank. Mr. Parmer, also a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by White Motor Corporation in Columbus and is presently undergoing basic training for the Ohio National Guard in Fort Polk, La.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Commercial Point, Kingston, Portsmouth, Clarksburg, Ashville, Stoutsville, Amanda and Five Points.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Nag Him About Ring

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who will NOT wear a wedding ring. We've been married for 10 months, and this is the only thing we ever had angry words about.

He wore his wedding ring on our honeymoon, but as soon as we got home, he took it off. First he said it was too tight, so I had it made larger. Then he said it fit all right, but it made him "uncomfortable." Why should a little ring make him uncomfortable? I would be uncomfortable WITHOUT mine.

He says he won't wear it to work, but he'll wear it to parties. Abby, that's the whole point. I'm WITH him at parties. It's when I'm NOT with him that I want him to wear it.

We really love each other, and I do trust him, but this bugs me. What should I do?

LONG BEACH WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Get off his back. It's probably not the ring he objects to as much as your insistence that he wear it. You say you trust him. So TRUST him! He KNOWS he's married, and if you continue to nag him about it your problem will be much bigger than a "little ring."

DEAR ABBY: I think I am too flat for my age. My measurements are 27-22-27. I am eleven years old and am 4 feet 9. I have friends who are not much taller than I am, and they are wearing a 30 AA cup bra.

I wish my mother would get me a bigger bra so I would look more like my girl friends. I asked her once, and she said she would get me a bigger bra when I need it, and not until.

Abby, I wouldn't want a bra that looked too padded for a girl my age, but don't you think just a little padding would look better?

FLAT AS A PANCAKE
DEAR FLAT: Be patient. And when you get a little older, if you are still conspicuously "flat," ask your mother to take you to a good lingerie shop, and let the authorities there be the judges and make recommendations. In other words, at the proper time, what nature has forgotten—stuff with cotton.

DERA ABBY: Several years ago I married the most wonderful man this world will ever see. We had four wonderful children, and life for us could not have been better. Then cancer took him away, but not before he made sure that his family was provided for in every way.

When he first learned that he was not long for this world, he started looking around for his replacement. Yes, Abby, you heard me right. His replacement!

You see, he knew that no decent woman who had been married as long as I should be without male companionship, and he loved me enough not to leave me to the streets and bars and other places where lonely women go in search of men.

My sainted husband brought a very fine gentleman to our home, introduced us, and this man became like one of the family. He loved the children and they loved him. We all lived together for five months, then my dear husband died happy, knowing that his replacement and I were compatible in every way. Of course, the town gossip had a lot to say about this arrangement, but it didn't bother us. Our oldest (a girl, 16 realized that a woman needs more than food and a roof over her head to make her happy.

Medical Care Bill Introduced In Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. William Taft, R-26 Cleveland, Wednesday introduced a bill in the Ohio Senate that would require the state to provide total medical care and assistance for indigent state residents.

The plan, patterned after one in New York, would include nursing home aid, hospital costs, and dental care for anyone, regardless of age, ruled indigent by the welfare department.

Taft estimated the cost for the program at between $200 and $300 million annually. He said he didn't know how many people would be affected.

The House Highways and Transportation Committee recommended for passage a Senate-approved bill that would allow regional transit authorities to take over privately-owned mass transit systems.

The authorities could issue bonds to buy or establish transit systems. The bill, introduced by Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, calls for the bonds to be retired from revenues.

Other bills introduced Wednesday would:

- Require the state fire marshal and industrial relations department to inspect child day care centers.
- Establish a citizen advisory council on the mentally retarded.
- Prohibit manufacture, sale, ownership and possession of firearms.

Rhodes Pushes Bigger Fight On Dope Users

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "There is a certain type of drug user who lives solely by robbery," Gov. James A. Rhodes said Wednesday in attributing the rising crime rate partly to narcotics.

Rhodes said drug addicts need a steady flow of money to finance their habit and "will stop at nothing to get it."

He urged a "vast expansion" of the Federal Narcotics Bureau and said he would support additional appropriations to hire and train additional narcotics agents.

"There are only 850 agents in the entire country today," the governor said. "We need three times that many to deal adequately with the problem, which is reaching epidemic proportions."

The plan, patterned after one in New York, would include nursing home aid, hospital costs, and dental care for anyone, regardless of age, ruled indigent by the welfare department.

Taft estimated the cost for the program at between $200 and $300 million annually. He said he didn't know how many people would be affected.

The House Highways and Transportation Committee recommended for passage a Senate-approved bill that would allow regional transit authorities to take over privately-owned mass transit systems.

The authorities could issue bonds to buy or establish transit systems. The bill, introduced by Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, calls for the bonds to be retired from revenues.

Other bills introduced Wednesday would: —Require the state fire marshal and industrial relations department to inspect child day care centers.

—Establish a citizen advisory council on the mentally retarded.

—Prohibit manufacture, sale, ownership and possession of firearms.

Rhodes Pushes Bigger Fight On Dope Users

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "There is a certain type of drug user who lives solely by robbery," Gov. James A. Rhodes said Wednesday in attributing the rising crime rate partly to narcotics.

Rhodes said drug addicts need a steady flow of money to finance their habit and "will stop at nothing to get it."

He urged a "vast expansion" of the Federal Narcotics Bureau and said he would support additional appropriations to hire and train additional narcotics agents.

"There are only 850 agents in the entire country today," the governor said. "We need three times that many to deal adequately with the problem, which is reaching epidemic proportions."

Las Vegas Strip Silent As Full-Scale Strike Hits

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The glittering marquee were dark. The rooms where the show acts go on were empty. The gaming tables were nearly deserted.

It was the first day of the first full-scale strike on the Las Vegas Strip.

The luxurious casino-hotels that line the Strip were still open, but only to give guests time to leave.

For the first time in 30 years, casino manager John Hughes pulled the money boxes from the crap tables of the Sahara Hotel and closed up the game.

"I didn't think it could ever happen," he said.

About 14,000 bartenders, maids, waitresses and kitchen workers struck Wednesday in a wage dispute with the Nevada Restaurant Association, representing 16 Strip establishments.

Two hotels and one casino reached separate agreements with the unions. They were packed Wednesday night.

Other beneficiaries were the downtown casinos and hotels, five miles off the Strip. They filled up gradually during the day and their restaurants were jammed during the early evening hours.

For the people who did stay on the Strip, there was not much to do.

They could take the clean sheets secretaries delivered and make the beds. They could stand in line to eat from the free buffets that were the only food in the hotels. Or they could gamble.

Showgirls and musicians were honoring picket lines.

The tables were open, but the action was scarce.

The culinary workers and bartenders unions are asking for a 35 per cent wage increase for all employees plus additional fringe benefits. Management's last offer was 25 per cent, with fringe benefit improvements to come from that.

The culinary workers now receive from $11.40 per eight-hour shift for a waitress to $33.95 per shift for a night chef. A union bartender makes $28 to $31 a shift.

Waitresses and bartenders also receive tips, which on the Strip can be substantial. Waitresses on the picket lines said $40 a night in tips is not unusual and bartenders said they pick up an extra $20 a night from tips.

The 16 hotels and casinos affected by the strike are the Sahara, Thunderbird, Desert Inn, Sands, Flamingo, Tropicana, Hacienda, Dunes, Frontier, Silver Slipper, Stardust, Aladdin, International, Caesars Palace, Landmark and Castaways.

The three which had reached agreement with the unions are the Riviera, the Bonanza and Circus Circus.

NEW YORK (AP) — Doctor series have, once again, proven to be durable television commodities. Three new ones were launched in September, and all of them will return for a second season.

ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." did so well that it was among the first series of the season to be re-signed.

Among the three—actually it is 2-1-3 because the medical segment of NBC's "The Bold Ones" shares the screen with two other story lines—Robert Young's Dr. Welby is the only one that can be counted as a solid hit. Much of its success is due to Young's sympathetic portrait of a wise and dedicated family doctor.

"Medical Center" on CBS follows the form and, pretty much, the traditional substance of the genre. There is some unwritten rule in TV writing that medical series must have an old doctor and a young doctor who are often in a conflict of ideas.

Dr. Welby is unquestionably the head man in his series, with James Brolin playing his swinging young assistant, E. G. Marshall and David Hartman of "The Bold Ones" play, respectively, the mature and the young doctors, but both of them usually are supporting players to the medical inventions and developments around which plots are built.

"Medical Center" plays it safe and down the middle. The star is the young doctor, played in sober, dedicated style by Chad Everett. Its emphasis is on human drama related to illness.

Wednesday night's hour was the story of an aging former football star facing surgery to correct a vascular condition affecting his legs. The point of the story was that it was not so much his legs that were bothering him as the fact that life was empty with the glory days behind him. It was a mildly interesting treatment in a series notable for its polished production and professional performance.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series will present an Easter drama Friday night, an original play called "Neither Are We Enemies." It is set in the time of Christ.

Howe Denker, the playwright, is a specialist in the period. As a boy he studied to be a rabbi, and later had his initial success writing radio's biblical series, "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

The play is based on two men's different interpretations of the words of Jesus. Denker maintains that, because it deals frankly with animosity between Christians and Jews, the theme would not have been acceptable for television a few years ago.

"I could not have dramatized this story until the ecumenical movement and spirit came along," he said. "I've been thinking about the story for years."

Denker, while writing some 400 radio scripts based on the Bible, amassed a collection of some 40 different versions. He has also written novels on various themes and in contemporary backgrounds. His plays include the hits "Time Limit" and "A Case of Libel."

Van Heflin and Ed Begley will star in the 90-minute drama.

Chicago Ending Famous Role As 'Pork Butcher'

CHICAGO (AP) — Within three months the Union Stock yards in Chicago will discontinue handling hogs and this city will be "hog butcher for the world" no more.

In recent years the high cost of bringing the hogs to Chicago and increased efficiency in refrigeration has driven much of the nation's butchering business to smaller cities nearer the farm sources of supply.

The number of hogs arriving in Chicago has declined steadily in the past five years. The Union Stock Yard and Transit Co. gave this Tuesday as the reason for discontinuing hog butchering and packing.

The yards will continue with cattle operations, however. Although cattle receipts at the Chicago yards also have diminished somewhat in recent years, Chicago remains the nation's largest market for choice and prime fed cattle.

It was a mildly interesting treatment in a series notable for its polished production and professional performance.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series will present an Easter drama Friday night, an original play called "Neither Are We Enemies." It is set in the time of Christ.

Henry Denker, the playwright, is a specialist in the period. As a boy he studied to be a rabbi, and later had his initial success writing radio's biblical series, "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

The play is based on two men's different interpretations of the words of Jesus. Denker maintains that, because it deals frankly with animosity between Christians and Jews, the theme would not have been acceptable for television a few years ago.

"I could not have dramatized this story until the ecumenical movement and spirit came along," he said. "I've been thinking about the story for years."

Denker, while writing some 400 radio scripts based on the Bible, amassed a collection of some 40 different versions. He has also written novels on various themes and in contemporary backgrounds. His plays include the hits "Time Limit" and "A Case of Libel."

Van Heflin and Ed Begley will star in the 90-minute drama.

Chicago Ending Famous Role As 'Pork Butcher'

CHICAGO (AP) — Within three months the Union Stock yards in Chicago will discontinue handling hogs and this city will be "hog butcher for the world" no more.

In recent years the high cost of bringing the hogs to Chicago and increased efficiency in refrigeration has driven much of the nation's butchering business to smaller cities nearer the farm sources of supply.

The number of hogs arriving in Chicago has declined steadily in the past five years. The Union Stock Yard and Transit Co. gave this Tuesday as the reason for discontinuing hog butchering and packing.

The yards will continue with cattle operations, however. Although cattle receipts at the Chicago yards also have diminished somewhat in recent years, Chicago remains the nation's largest market for choice and prime fed cattle.

New Members Inducted Into Jaycees

Five new members were inducted into the Circleville Jaycee Club at the annual membership night held recently in the clubrooms.

Fred Kegelmeyer, national director, inducted Jim Moffitt, James Patrick, Daniel Moffitt, Dr. Steven Yost and Mike Gilmore.

Also attending the party and induction was Paul Johnson, District 10 vice president.

Jim Moffitt, an employee of the Second National Bank, resides at 217 Linden Lane. His hobbies include flying and bowling. Patrick lives at 312 Linden Lane and works at Mason's Furniture Store. His hobbies include golf, bowling and bridge.

Daniel Moffitt and his wife Vicky and son Eric live at 1068 Mulberry Road. Moffitt works at the Second National Bank. His hobbies are wood work and golf.

Dr. Yost and his wife Linda and daughter Laura, 2, live on Mower Road. He is a veterinarian. His hobbies include wood carving, fishing and jogging.

Gilmore and his wife Cindy and five-week old daughter, Heather, reside at 360 Sunview Drive. He works at Lockbourne Airbase and his hobbies include hunting and fishing.

Billo Boggins, hero of this first explanatory volume, was a quiet peace-loving, pipe smoking hobbit. When Gandolf wandered by and set him on his great adventure. He returned with the One Ring of Power.

Following "The Hobbit" are the three books which make up "The Lord of the Rings."

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Girl Scouts, as well as other civic groups, avail themselves of library services throughout the year.

In January, Mrs. George Schenck, 431 Glenmont Court, who is Logan Trails Service Unit Director, updated the material in the library's Girl Scout section and added several new publications. With these books organized for ready reference, she held several meetings in the library. Troop leaders who attended were introduced to the collection.

Several Junior troops have earned library - associated badges such as Book Badge, Magic Carpet Badge and Storytelling Badge. In these cases, the Children's Librarian has worked with the troop leaders and the girls.

Volunteer Scouts from Junior Troop 1051 serve as library aides in the Children's Department on Saturdays. They are Carolyn Tammany, Pam Sturgill, Kelly Spence, Kathy Fisher and Linda Fisher. These girls, all of whom have earned their book badges, demonstrate responsibility and helpfulness to the boys and girls who use the library when they are on duty.

Mrs. Willis Flowers, 138 Walnut Street, leader of Cadette Girl Scout Troop 1176, has prepared a display of scouting activities for the library. This commemorates Girl Scout week, March 8-14. Mrs. Flowers and her assistants, Mrs. Daniel Bond and Mrs. Nancy Miller, direct a group of 27 Junior High girls in a busy program geared to the girls' own interests.

Among the objects shown are momentos of a trip which the troop took in June of 1969. It was two years in the planning and the girls visited the home of Juliette Lowe in Savannah, Georgia.

"Attic of the Wind" by Doris Herold Lund, illustrated by Ati Forbery. Where do kites go when you let go of their strings? Butterflies that soar too high? The embers rising from a summer evening's bonfire? Why, to the attic of the wind, of course. Breezy pictures show wind-blown objects in lovely colors, all on their way to the attic of the wind. Picture book.

"Earth and Sky" by Mona Dayton, pictures by Roger Duvairen. Charming dialogue between the earth and the sky tells the reader that both are of great value. For every boast of the sky, the earth counters with a special quality of its own. As always, Mr. Duvairen's illustrations have beautiful color and are done with great style.

"The Hobbit" by J. R. R. Tolkien. J. R. R. Tolkien created a world of fantasy when he conjured up the hobbits. These are those foolish mortals who cannot enter the "Middle-earth." But neither can they walk through the looking glass with Alice. But for those who dig the hobbits, there is a land of child like wonder which they can enter. Sheriffs Oppose Safety Department Despite Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Directors of the Buckeye Sheriffs Association reiterated Wednesday their opposition to legislation that would create a Department of Public Safety under command of the governor.

In doing so, they rejected administration compromise amendments which would have set up an advisory board comprised of two sheriffs and two police chiefs. The sheriffs said it would give them no policy-making authority.

The bill, passed by the House and now in a Senate committee, would put the Highway Patrol and most of the state's crime-fighting agencies in the attorney general's office in the new cabinet level department.

Sheriffs object partly because of an amendment that would permit the patrol to be brought in to local disorders. They have said it is another step in establishing a state police force.

Military Construction Work Being Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio would get $9.4 million worth of military construction and housing work under a list of projects the Defense Department is asking Congress to approve for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Wright - Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton would be allocated $7,538,000; Lockbourne AFB at Columbus, $518,000; Defense Construction Supply Center, Columbus, $942,000; Gentile AFS, Dayton, $240,000, and the Ridgewood Army Weapons Plant $120,000.

Foes Of Carswell Gain Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Senate vote growing near, opponents of Judge Harrold Carswell's Supreme Court nomination say they have gained strength, but concede they have a long way to go to reach victory.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke says 37 senators have pledged to vote against confirming the Southern federal appeals judge, and "I expect that number to increase."

But, admitted the Massachusetts Republican and the Senate's only black member Wednesday, "I'm realistic. It's going to be tough."

Assistant Democratic Leader Edward M. Kennedy, agreed opposition to Carswell has picked up, but cautions there appears to be only a long shot chance of defeating President Nixon's second nominee to fill the high court seat vacated by Abe Fortas.

Brooke, taking the Nixon administration to task for what he called a "cold, calculated, political decision" to adopt a negative civil rights policy, said the White House appears to be following a Southern strategy by writing off the black vote. The appointment of Carswell is an example of that strategy, he said.

Opponents have attacked the civil rights record of the Tallahassee, Fla., federal judge and what they consider to be his lack of qualifications to hold a Supreme Court seat.

In proposing Wednesday that Chief Justice Warren E. Burger be invited to address a joint session of Congress each year on the problems facing federal courts, Kennedy said the controversy over Carswell "is a symbol of the general malaise that exists throughout our judicial system."

President Nixon attempted last year to fill the seat by naming Clement F. Haynsworth, a South Carolina federal judge. But the Senate rejected Haynsworth after he was charged with possible conflicts of interest.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Carswell's nomination will be brought up as soon as action is completed on voting rights legislation. The Senate is nearing a final vote on a bill extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Meantime, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., told newsmen there is a good chance the Senate's top GOP leaders, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, and Robert Griffin of Michigan will change their minds and vote against Carswell.

A change of position by either man would attract wavering Republicans to the opposition side and provide almost enough votes to beat him, said Conyers, a Negro.

He said Scott and Griffin, both of whom voted against Haynsworth, are finding it hard to keep up their support of Carswell and still hold faith with minorities who backed them.

Hoss Attorneys Planning Appeal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charging that news coverage prevented their client from receiving a fair trial, court-appointed attorneys for Stanley B. Hoss say they will appeal his first-degree murder conviction to the state Supreme Court.

An Allegheny County Common Pleas jury which found Hoss guilty of the murder of a suburban Pittsburgh policeman sentenced him to death in the electric chair.

The jury of seven women and five men decided on the penalty in less than an hour. The defense asked that the jury be polled and each member stood and faced Hoss and said death. Hoss showed no emotion.

Jacksonville Dolphins Have Tourney Hopes

This is the Age of Aquarius.
Will it be the Year of the Dol-phin in college basketball?
Or will it once again be the continues tonight with eight games at four NCAA regional

Wednesday for a reported pin in college basketball? Or will it once again be the Year of the Bruin? Or the Wildcats?

The weeding out process by which college basketball's annual championship is decided continues tonight with eight games at four NCAA regional tournaments.

Of the 16 teams competing tonight for quarter-final berths, only top-ranked Kentucky and No. 2 UCLA have won national titles in the past. Kansas State, unranked, is the only other team to even get as far as the finals in the previous 31 NCAA post season playoffs.

A case could be made for the Dolphins from Jacksonville University being just the team for the Age of Aquarius. After all, the Johnny-come-latelies of college basketball have been scoring at a record pace of 101 points a game.

Jacksonville Dolphins Have Tourney Hopes

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the Age of Aquarius. Will it be the Year of the Dolphin?

legue basketball have been scoring at a record pace of 101 points a game.

And the Dolphins, 24-1 and No. 4 in the final Associated Press poll, are a new and exciting entry in college basketball. This is Jacksonville's fourth year of competition, but the first one for the Florida school to make any splashes.

Jacksonville goes against Big Ten titlist Iowa in one of the two games at Columbus, Ohio. The Dolphins revolve around 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore, the nation's No. 1 rebounder with a 23-per game average, and 7-foot Pembroke Burrows.

Here's the line-up for tonight's regionals, all starting times EST:

—East at Columbia, S.C., 7:05 p.m., No. 17 Niagara, 22-5, vs. Villanova, 21-6. 9:05 p.m. No. 3 St. Bonaventure, 23-1, vs. No. 10 North Carolina State, 22-6.

—Midwest at Columbus, Ohio: 7:05 p.m. No. 1 Kentucky, 25-1, vs. No. 9 Notre Dame, 21-6. 9:05 p.m., No. 4 Jacksonville, 24-1, vs. No. 7 Iowa, 19-4.

—Midwest at Lawrence, Kan.: 8:05 p.m., No. 12 Houston, 25-3, vs. No. 14 Drake, 21-6. 10:05 p.m., No. 5 New Mexico State, 24-2, vs. Kansas State, 19-7.

—West at Seattle, Wash.: 10:05 p.m., No. 16 Utah State, 21-6, vs. Santa Clara, 22-5. 12:05 a.m. No. 2 UCLA, 24-2, vs. No. 19 Long Beach State, 24-3.

Adolph Rupp, the Bluegrass Baron whose Kentucky quintets won titles in 1948, 1949, 1951 and 1958, was named Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year Wednesday.

Winningest coach in the sport, the 68-year-old Rupp needs another national championship to equal the five won by UCLA's John Wooden, including a record three-in-a-row, 1967-69. UCLA also won in 1964 and 1965.

UCLA's foe, the Long Beach State 49ers, are really an upstart. Until last weekend when the 49ers upset Weber State 92-73 in the first round of the NCAA playoffs, the team was virtually unknown.

The survivors of tonight's games play quarter-final matches Saturday afternoon at the same sites. Saturday's winners go to College Park, Md., for next Thursday's semifinals.

The championship game, also at Maryland, will be played March 21.

The 33rd National Invitational Tourney in New York, featuring high-scoring Pete Maravich of LSU, gets under way Friday with a 16-team field.

Elsewhere in the sport, the smaller schools are battling in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tourney at Kansas City and the NCAA College Division Championships at Evansville, Ind.

At the NAIA, Stephen F. Austin, No. 1 team in the AP's final small college rankings, reached the quarterfinals, defeating Augusta, Ga., 74-71.

It was the 33rd straight victory for the Lumberjacks, including 29 this season. The Nacogdoches, Tex., team is top-seeded in the NAIA tourney.

Also reaching the round of eight in the NAIA were Kentucky State, Jackson State, Maryland State, Eastern New Mexico, Guilford, Central State of Ohio and Central Washington.

in the quarter-finals of the NCAA at Evansville, Buffalo State upset Stetson 75-74, Philadelphia Textile routed American International 101-53. Tennessee State shaded South Dakota State 92-89 and California, Riverside, eliminated St. Joseph's, Ind., 82-77.

Winningest coach in the sport, the 68-year-old Rupp needs another national championship to equal the five won by UCLA's John Wooden, including a record three-in-a-row, 1967-69. UCLA also won in 1964 and 1965.

The championship game, also at Maryland, will be played March 21.

At the NAIA, Stephen F. Austin, No. 1 team in the AP's final small college rankings, reached the quarterfinals, defeating Augusta, Ga., 74-71.

It was the 33rd straight victory for the Lumberjacks, including 29 this season. The Nacogdoches, Tex., team is top-seeded in the NAIA tourney.

Also reaching the round of eight in the NAIA were Kentucky State, Jackson State, Maryland State, Eastern New Mexico, Guilford, Central State of Ohio and Central Washington.

Tigers Shooting For The Pennant

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
LAKELAND, Fla. — The Denny McLain story still hangs heavy over the Detroit Tiger camp here, but it's been proven before that one man doesn't make a whole team — although Denny's 24 victories last year, and the Baltimore Orioles' 19-game margin on the Tigers makes for a lot of catching up.

At our visit here at the Tiger town layout, which will be improved next year with the completion of a $400,000 dormitory for the farm club players, McLain has been on suspension for several days, was seeing only certain newspapermen and the Tiger camp itself was split, in a way, as to for and against the star pitcher, whose off-the-field activities brought a crackdown from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Strangely, though, it was not all pessimism, from manager Mayo Smith on down, for the Tigers feel they have a chance to win the pennant despite the runaway of the Orioles last year.

Smith, who is beginning his 39th season in baseball, accents the 19 games the club has to make up — but also points out some salient facts. With or without McLain.

"A year ago we came off the pennant," Smith reminded us, "and they said we couldn't play as well as we did the year before. Well, we played pretty darn good, won 90 games, third highest total since 1961, but the Orioles played better."

"Now, if the Orioles would play the same way they'd win the pennant. But we think they won't. And if we do as well, or a little better we'll be right in it."

"With or without McLain we've got good enough personnel to win it. We'll have to play it by ear, on our pitching."

We think we've improved that with the addition of Joe Niekro, from the Chicago Cubs and Jerry Robertson from Montreal. Niekro could be a starter along with Mickey Lolich, Mike Kilkenny and Earl Wilson."

"As for our young pitchers, I just don't know. I'm not a person who looks at the records. What I look for is how did this fellow or that fellow pitch for a certain number of innings, how many walks and how many strikeouts."

"We added Dalton Jones from the Boston Red Sox and here's a guy who can play most any position. And don't forget he hits well in Tiger Stadium."

"I look for Cesar Gutierrez, from the San Francisco Giants' chain, to do the job at shortstop."

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit's chances of winning the American League pennant flickered and all but died Feb. 19 when Denny McLain was suspended indefinitely by commissioner Bowie Kuhn for "1967 bookmaking activities and his associations at that time."

As manager Mayo Smith said at the time, "where do you pick up 24 games? That's the problem."

The job of replacing McLain, a 24-9 winner in 1969 and a 31-6 sensation for the 1968 world champs, is all but impossible. Nobody knows for sure how long McLain's suspension will last but Tiger fans might well prepare for the worst.

"I told the team that with the personnel we have we can win this thing without him (McLain)," said Smith with a brave attempt to whistle past the graveyard. "This thing just makes our job that much tougher."

Mickey Stanley will be in our outfield, not at short. And I look for Dick McAuliffe to be my second baseman all year after that knee operation.

"We're aiming at the pennant. I don't necessarily like that playoff system but we're with it. The best team doesn't always win."

The Tigers made few changes, but are solid everywhere except short. Don Wert, the third sacker, came on after the All-Star game and did a good job. And competing here is a 22-year-old rookie, Elliott Maddox, who has had only two years of pro ball but has the makings to be a big leaguer quick.

The new faces on the pitching line include Norm McRae, Fred Scherman, Gary Taylor, Bob Reed and Tom Timmerman, all up from Toledo. Reed and Taylor won 12 games each with Toledo.

Ike Brown, a third baseman, had a fine year at Toledo before coming up to the Tigers last year.

The Tigers have power in Norm Cash, Al Kaline, Willie Horton, Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan. Four of the regulars hit 20 or more homers last year.

Gutierrez, from Venezuela, was late in reporting because he failed to get a labor visa in time.

The effect of McLain's suspension on the rest of the ball club has to be devastating.

In spite of all their problems, the Tigers are going about the job of getting ready for the American League race and trying to close ranks. Even before the McLain case broke, Detroit faced an awesome task of trying to make up 19 games on Baltimore which won the Eastern Division title in a cakewalk last summer, ending the Tigers' one-year reign.

Smith has a pat answer when asked what happened to the Tigers last year. He sums it up in one word, "Baltimore." But, of course, it was not all Baltimore. In 1968 the Tigers were 103-59, romping by 12 and beating St. Louis in the World Series. Last year they were 90-72 and had fallen 13½ games back before the end of June.

Mickey Lolich automatically moves up to the No. 1 position on the staff which Smith must reorganize. Mike Kilkenny, a relief pitcher until last July, fits into the starting rotation with Joe Niekro, acquired from San Diego in a trade and 34-year-old Earl Wilson. Jerry Robertson, former Montreal Expo who came to the Tigers for Joe Sparma in a move to bolster the bullpen, may have to be a spot starter. John Hiller, another relief man, also will get a whirl as a third left-handed starter.

Dennis Saunders and Bill Galbreth, a non-roster man, are a couple of kids for the future. Tom Timmerman, Bob Reed and sidearming Fred Lasher figure for relief work.

Al Kaline will be used at first base more than last year, alternating with Norm Cash in order to give a pair of 35-year-oldsters a chance to rest now and then. Kaline also will be in right field against certain pitching with Willie Horton, the club's leader in homers and RBI, in left field and Mickey Stanley in center. When Kaline goes to first, Jim Northrup will be the third outfielder. As of now, no more shortstop work for Stanley.

Much depends on the comeback of Dick McAuliffe who underwent surgery on his right knee last summer. McAuliffe didn't play after July 13 but Smith is convinced his second baseman will be 100 per cent long before the opener. Cesar Gutierrez, former San Francisco Giant, is Smith's hope at shortstop with Tom Tresh still recuperating from a knee operation.

Don Wert or ex-Boston player Dalton Jones will handle third with rookie Elliott Maddox, up from Rocky Mount, an outside bet.

Bill Freehan will handle the bulk of the catching, backed by Jim Price.

The Tigers wait for the phone to ring from commissioner Kuhn's office with a final decision on the McLain case. In the meantime they're getting ready. It may be a long wait.

Atlanta Hawks Edge Rockets; Win 122-121

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lou Hudson says he knew he had the touch from the start. But the Atlanta Hawks didn't know they had the ball game until the closing seconds.

Hudson poured in 48 points in leading Atlanta to a 122-121 National Basketball Association victory over the San Diego Rockets Wednesday night. Bill Bridges sank two free throws with 37 seconds remaining to pull it out after the Hawks wiped out a 13-point deficit with a fourth period rally.

The triumph boosted the Hawks' Western Division lead to 1½ games over the idle Los Angeles Lakers.

In other NBA games, the Boston Celtics downed the Cincinnati Royals 144-127 and the San Francisco Warriors subdued the Baltimore Bullets 115-112 in double overtime.

Elvin Hayes, who topped San Diego with 37 points, had an opportunity to tie the game against Atlanta but sank only one of two free throws with 26 seconds left. That ended the scoring for the night.

Bailey Howell and Larry Siegfried paced Boston past Cincinnati as each tossed in 23 points. John Havlicek added 17, while veteran Johnny Green topped the Royals with a season high of 32 points. He also grabbed 14 rebounds.

The Celtics, officially eliminated from the playoffs Tuesday night, ran up leads of 20 points four times in the second half.

NCAA College Semifinals Set Tonight

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Virtually every section of the country is represented in the semifinals tonight of the NCAA college division tournament.

The California Riverside Highlanders, 18-9, carry the banner of the West as they try to become the first team to win the championship in its initial tourney appearance since the meet began in 1957.

The 12th-ranked Philadelphia Textile Rams, surviving the first round after failing in two previous attempts at Evansville, are the Midwest champion and bear a 27-2 mark with a 26-game winning streak.

The Eastern kingpin is Buffalo State, 22-3, and from the South comes Tennessee State of Nashville, 20-7.

The Rams take on the Highlanders in the first semifinal game, starting at 7 p.m. CST, followed by the Buffalo Bengals against the Tennessee Tigers.

The Bengals pulled the biggest surprise of the quarter-finals Wednesday by downing highly-regarded Stetson of DeLand, Fla., 75-74.

After scoring 39 points, 21 in the last half, Stetson's Little All-American Ernest Killum, had the ball stolen from him in the final 12 seconds after the Hatters had elected to stall for a last shot with 1:55 remaining.

Glenn Henley filched the ball and was fouled by Killum while driving in. His free throw settled it in the last second.

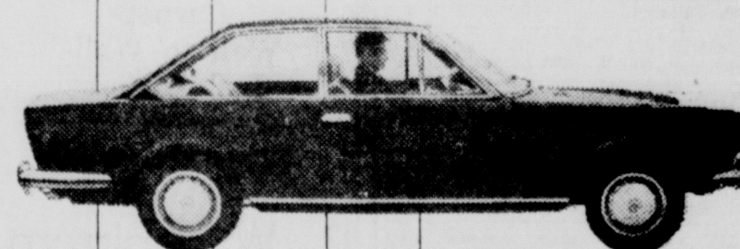

Textile mauled American International of Springfield, Mass., 101-53. The 48-point spread was only one short of the biggest winning margin on the tourney books.

Sophomore Claude Grant made 21 of his 31 points in the last half and hit six of them in the final 80 seconds to gear Tennessee over ninth-ranked South Dakota State 92-89. Grant also picked off 26 of his team's 58 rebounds.

Another rookie tournament team, St. Joseph's of Indiana, fell 82-77 to California, in a game that was tied 12 times.

"As for our young pitchers, I just don't know. I'm not a person who looks at the records. What I look for is how did this fellow or that fellow pitch for a certain number of innings, how many walks and how many strikeouts."

"We added Dalton Jones from the Boston Red Sox and here's a guy who can play most any position. And don't forget he hits well in Tiger Stadium."

"I look for Cesar Guitierrez, from the San Francisco Giants' chain, to do the job at shortstop."

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit's chances of winning the American League pennant flickered and all but died Feb. 19 when Denny McLain was suspended indefinitely by commissioner Bowie Kuhn for "1967 bookmaking activities and his associations at that time."

As manager Mayo Smith said at the time, "where do you pick up 24 games? That's the problem."

The job of replacing McLain, a 24-9 winner in 1969 and a 31-6 sensation for the 1968 world champs, is all but impossible. Nobody knows for sure how long McLain's suspension will last but Tiger fans might well prepare for the worst.

"I told the team that with the personnel we have we can win this thing without him (McLain)," said Smith with a brave attempt to whistle past the graveyard. "This thing just makes our job that much tougher."

Mickey Stanley will be in our outfield, not at short. And I look for Dick McAuliffe to be my second baseman all year after that knee operation.

"We're aiming at the pennant. I don't necessarily like that playoff system but we're with it. The best team doesn't always win."

The Tigers made few changes, but are solid everywhere except short. Don Wert, the third sacker, came on after the All-Star game and did a good job. And competing here is a 22-year-old rookie, Elliott Maddox, who has had only two years of pro ball but has the makings to be a big leaguer quick.

The new faces on the pitching line include Norm MacRae, Fred Scherman, Gary Taylor, Bob Reed and Tom Timmerman, all up from Toledo. Reed and Taylor won 12 games each with Toledo.

Ike Brown, a third baseman, had a fine year at Toledo before coming up to the Tigers last year.

The Tigers have power in Norm Cash, Al Kaline, Willie Horton, Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan. Four of the regulars hit 20 or more homers last year. Gutierrez, from Venezuela, was late in reporting because he failed to get a labor visa in time.

The effect of McLain's suspension on the rest of the ball club has to be devastating.

In spite of all their problems, the Tigers are going about the job of getting ready for the American League race and trying to close ranks. Even before the McLain case broke, Detroit faced an awesome task of trying to make up 19 games on Baltimore which won the Eastern Division title in a cakewalk last summer, ending the Tigers' one-year reign.

Smith has a pat answer when asked what happened to the Tigers last year. He sums it up in one word, "Baltimore." But, of course, it was not all Baltimore. In 1968 the Tigers were 103-59, romping by 12 and beating St. Louis in the World Series. Last year they were 90-72 and had fallen 13½ games back before the end of June.

Mickey Lolich automatically moves up to the No. 1 position on the staff which Smith must reorganize. Mike Kilkenny, a relief pitcher until last July, fits into the starting rotation with Joe Niekro, acquired from San Diego in a trade and 34-year-old Earl Wilson, Jerry Robertson, former Montreal Expo who came to the Tigers for Joe Sparrano in a move to bolster the bullpen, may have to be a spot starter. John Hiller, another relief man, also will get a whirl as a third left-handed starter.

Dennis Saunders and Bill Galbreath, a non-roster man, are a couple of kids for the future. Tom Timmerman, Bob Reed and sidearming Fred Lasher figure for relief work.

Al Kaline will be used at first base more than last year, alternating with Norm Cash in order to give a pair of 35-year-oldsters a chance to rest now and then. Kaline also will be in right field against certain pitching, with Willie Horton, the club's leader in homers and RBI, in left field and Mickey Stanley in center. When Kaline goes to first, Jim Northrup will be the third outfielder. As of now, no more shortstop work for Stanley.

Much depends on the comeback of Dick McAuliffe who underwent surgery on his right knee last summer. McAuliffe didn't play after July 13 but Smith is convinced his second baseman will be 100 per cent long before the opener. Cesar Gutierrez, former San Francisco Giant, is Smith's hope at shortstop with Tom Tresh still recuperating from a knee operation. Don Wert or ex-Boston player Dalton Jones will handle third with rookie Elliott Maddox, up from Rocky Mount, an outside bet.

Bill Freehan will handle the bulk of the catching, backed by Jim Price.

The Tigers wait for the phone to ring from commissioner Kuhn's office with a final decision on the McLain case. In the meantime they're getting ready. It may be a long wait.

Atlanta Hawks Edge Rockets; Win 122-121

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lou Hudson says he knew he had the touch from the start. But the Atlanta Hawks didn't know they had the ball game until the closing seconds.

Hudson poured in 48 points in leading Atlanta to a 122-121 National Basketball Association victory over the San Diego Rockets Wednesday night. Bill Bridges sank two free throws with 37 seconds remaining to pull it out after the Hawks wiped out a 13-point deficit with a fourth period rally.

The triumph boosted the Hawks' Western Division lead to 1½ games over the idle Los Angeles Lakers.

In other NBA games, the Boston Celtics downed the Cincinnati Royals 144-127 and the San Francisco Warriors subdued the Baltimore Bullets 115-112 in double overtime.

Elvin Hayes, who topped San Diego with 37 points, had an opportunity to tie the game against Atlanta but sank only one of two free throws with 26 seconds left. That ended the scoring for the night.

Bailey Howell and Larry Siegfried paced Boston past Cincinnati as each tossed in 23 points. John Havlicek added 17, while veteran Johnny Green topped the Royals with a season high of 32 points. He also grabbed 14 rebounds.

The Celtics, officially eliminated from the playoffs Tuesday night, ran up leads of 20 points four times in the second half.

NCAA College Semifinals Set Tonight

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Virtually every section of the country is represented in the semifinals tonight of the NCAA college division tournament.

The California Riverside Highlanders, 18-9, carry the banner of the West as they try to become the first team to win the championship in its initial tourney appearance since the meet began in 1957.

The 12th-ranked Philadelphia Textile Rams, surviving the first round after failing in two previous attempts at Evansville, are the Midwest champion and bear a 27-2 mark with a 26-game winning streak.

The Eastern kingpin is Buffalo State, 22-3, and from the South comes Tennessee State of Nashville, 20-7.

The Rams take on the Highlanders in the first semifinal game, starting at 7 p.m. CST, followed by the Buffalo Bengals against the Tennessee Tigers.

The Bengals pulled the biggest surprise of the quarter-finals Wednesday by downing highly-regarded Stetson of DeLand, Fla., 75-74.

After scoring 39 points, 21 in the last half, Stetson's Little All-American Ernest Killum, had the ball stolen from him in the final 12 seconds after the Hatters had elected to stall for a last shot with 1:55 remaining.

Glenn Henley filched the ball and was fouled by Killum while driving in. His free throw settled it in the last second.

the final 80 seconds to gear Tennessee over ninth-ranked South Dakota State 92-89. Grant also picked off 26 of his team's 58 rebounds.

Another rookie tournament team, St. Joseph's of Indiana, fell 82-77 to California, in a game that was tied 12 times.

Chrysler Corporation
Duster has a bigger engine
Duster's standard 125 hp Six dusts off Maverick's standard engine by 20 horses. Even beats Maverick's only optional engine by 5. And if you want performance, you can go all the way up to 340 cubic inches with Duster. No Maverick can match that.

Duster has a longer wheelbase
Duster's 108 inch wheelbase is a full 5 inches longer than Maverick's. In overall length, Duster has 9 more inches. Add Duster's extra 352 lbs., and the result is a smoother ride, and more stable handling.

Duster has a bigger trunk
A lot bigger trunk. 15 cubic feet for Duster, only 10.4 cubic feet for Maverick. Just because a car is small on the outside doesn't mean it has to be small on the inside.

Duster has a 5-year/50,000-mile power train warranty . . . Maverick doesn't.
Chrysler Corporation warrants against defects in materials or workmanship to the first registered owner only, and will repair or replace without charge for parts or labor at an authorized Imperial, Chrysler, Plymouth or Dodge dealership, the engine block, head and all internal engine parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and all internal transmission parts, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential of its 1970 Duster for 5 years or 50,000 miles and all other parts for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first, excluding only tires, normal deterioration due to wear and exposure, normal maintenance services and parts used in connection with such services, repairs required as a result of accident, abuse, negligence, racing, or failure to perform recommended maintenance services. Warranty repairs should be obtained from selling dealer unless he has ceased to do business as an authorized Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer, or the owner is traveling or has moved to a different locality and cannot return to his selling dealer.

Duster has bigger brakes
Bigger brakes mean more stopping power, and Duster's got it. Effective brake lining area for Duster: 153.4 sq. inches. For Maverick: only 106.0 inches. And if you like disc brakes or power brakes, Duster offers those too. Maverick doesn't.

Killed were Douglas Horne, 9, and his sister, Diane, 10, of Rt. 2 Ashland; Rick L. Boales, 16, of Ashland, and Floella Howman, 36, of Rt. 2 Jeromesville, a village east of Ashland.

The Hornes and Boales were in one car and the Howmans in the other, the patrol said.

The injured were reported in fair condition at Samaritan Hospital in Ashland.

Meeting Slated On Extradition In Yablonski Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Washington County, Pa., District Attorney Jess Costa was to meet here today with U.S. Atty. Robert B. Krupansky to discuss extradition of four persons accused of slaying United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Six persons have been indicted by a federal grand jury headed by Krupansky. The jury, now in recess, has been investigating the slaying of Yablonski in the family's Clarksville, Pa., home.

Five of the six have been indicted on charges of conspiracy; the sixth on a charge of perjury.

Charged by Pennsylvania authorities with murder are Paul Gilly, 36, his wife, Annette, 29, Aubran W. Martin, 21, and Claude E. Vealey, 26, all of the Cleveland area.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had better find another program in which to save a little money. He's having no luck with Public Law 874.

That's the one providing school aid to federally impacted areas—school districts including large numbers of children of U.S. government employees.

Nixon made it No. 1 last month on that list of 57 obsolete programs and "sacred cows" he would most like to do without in an effort to save $2.5 billion.

But while his lieutenants in the House were introducing legislation Wednesday designed to carry out his wishes, other members were fattening up impacted areas aid even more.

The program, which figured prominently in Nixon's veto of a health-education money bill several weeks ago, has been a thorn in the side of the last four presidents.

Starting with Dwight D. Eisenhower each one has tried to cut it down or at least restore it to its original purpose.

But Congress has continually expanded it until now 381 of the 435 congressional districts get money from the program. That makes it about as sacred as a sacred cow can get.

When it began in 1952 the program was intended to reimburse school districts near military facilities. The theory was that parents living on the bases paid no taxes to the school district to help meet the cost of educating their children. It was a small program that seemed eminently fair and it had wide support.

During the next few years advocates of general federal school aid seized on the impact program as a way to help their cause.

Children of all federal employees were brought under the act. So were children of civilians who worked on federal property. So were children of defense workers.

From an original cost of less than $100 million the program swelled to $385 million in the appropriations bill Nixon vetoed. And despite his aversion to it he was forced to accept $520 million impacted aid money in the compromise bill he finally signed.

In Nixon's budget for next year, funds for the program are made contingent on a complete revision that would restore the original focus although allowing some additions. If his conditions are met Nixon says he will spend $425 million for the program.

But House and Senate conferees are meeting on new school aid legislation that not only ignores Nixon's suggestion but creates still more areas of federal impact.

Children living in federally assisted public housing are counted under the bill. So are children of Cuban refugees and children of migratory workers.

If this goes through the cost of Public Law 874 in the next fiscal year will be slightly over $1 billion.
